President Outlines Anti Inflation Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — After dashing Americans' hopes for a $50 tax rebate this year, President Carter is letting them know what help they can expect from the government to ease the burden of inflation.

The President planned to unveil at a White House news conference today the details of the anti-inflation program he promised during his campaign.

In scrapping his $10 billion tax rebate plan Thursday, Carter may have done more to reassure business about the administration's commitment to fight inflation than anything that will be in today's program.

On Wall Street, which had been worried over the possible inflationary impact of the rebates, the stock market gained nearly 9 points in heavy trading Thursday.

Although Carter said last year he would ask for standby authority to impose wage and price controls, he and his advisers have said they no longer want this.

"There is nothing in this program that involves controls or coercion, either actual or standby in nature," Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal told reporters this week.

Instead of controls, the new anti-inflation program was expected to emphasize voluntary discussions among business, labor and government of wage and price policies in the private economy.

It also will lay out the general inflation targets the administration hopes to achieve and will put great stress on reducing government paperwork and regulations that are said to cause private business to increase prices.

The program will be aimed at keeping inflation from getting worse in the short run and reducing the current high level of prices in the long run.

The administration says the underlying inflation rate in the economy is about 6 per cent, which is still high by historical standards. But in recent months, there have been worrisome signs inflation might be edging toward the double-digit range.

Carter said at a White House news conference Thursday that his decision to scrap the rebates was done partly out of concern over the recent statistics showing inflation on the rise.

He also junked his proposals for $2.5 billion in tax credits for business. Both plans had been part of the $31 billion two-year economic stimulus program Carter decided upon before taking office.

Carter said he will continue to push for the jobs programs and permanent tax adjustments that made up about $20 billion of his original economic stimulus program.

Carter said the energy program he will announce next week "is quite severe" and hinted it could add a new inflationary spark of its own.

His surprise decision to scrap the rebates for 200 million Americans was the result of both political and economic considerations, but primarily economic, Carter said. He said the economy is now doing well without it, and he is worried over recent statistics that show inflation worsening.

"We don't think there's a need anymore," Carter said.

The President said the money saved from the rebates and tax credits will be used to reduce the fiscal 1977 budget deficit.

He said he would "strongly oppose" any congressional efforts to divert the funds to new spending programs.

Budget Director Bert Lance told reporters the deficit, estimated previously at nearly $70 billion, will be reduced to at least $57 billion.

Secretaries Week Begins Sunday

Secretaries Week will have its 26th annual observance April 24-30, sponsored by The National Secretaries Association (International). Secretaries Day will be on the intervening Wednesday.

Local plans for making Secretaries Week have been announced by Donna Strosnider and Bernice Lutz, Co-chairwomen of the Roundtown Chapter Secretaries' Week Committee. The following activities have been scheduled: Secretaries' breakfast to be held on Wednesday morning April 27 from 8 - 9 a.m. at the Colony House.

The Secretaries' Luncheon to be held on Saturday, April 30th at 12:30 p.m. at the Community United Methodist Church, 120 N. Pickaway Street. Hugh DeMoss, Managing Editor of WCH-TV on Channel 4 will be guest speaker and will present an interesting program based on his "Newswatch 4" report.

According to Lillian E. Billmeier, CPS, NSA's International President, who is Administrative Secretary to Raymond L. Randels, Associate Director, Michigan Education Association. "Secretaries Week is an appropriate time to distinguish the characteristics of professional secretaries from those who are content to get by with meeting minimum requirements.

"Professional career secretaries do not work in a vacuum, but are the hub of a highly interactive work environment. They seek challenges and responsibilities. Job satisfaction comes when they are stimulated by encouragement to expand their horizons, sharpened by the opportunity to exercise judgment, and appreciated for their seasoned experience."

Mayor Frank Barnhill signed a proclaimation designating next week as Secretaries Week.

Stewart New Tiger Coach

DENNIS STEWART

Circleville Superintendent of Schools Fritz Jacobs today announced the appointment of Dennis Stewart as new head basketball coach at Circleville High School.

Stewart's appointment was approved by the Circleville Board of Education Thursday night.

Circleville basketball is not a new item to the personable young coach who has served as reserve coach for the past six years.

Stewart will replace Jim Bailey who has held the post for the past two seasons.

A graduate of East Clinton High School, Stewart attended Miami University at Oxford where he graduated in 1969.

His next move was into the Circleville School system where he bacame seventh and eighth grade basketball coach.

He moved into his high school reserve job during the 1971-72 and has held that position until this appointment.

In six years, Stewart has won the South Central Ohio League championship three times while compiling a fine overall record of 78 wins and only 30 losses.

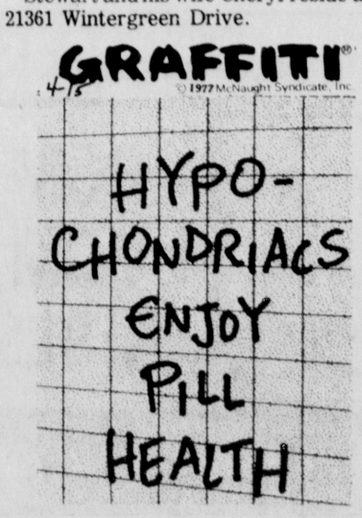
"I am happy with the chance to coach the Tigers and will do my best to keep basketball on a high level," Steward stated. "Circleville has a good tradition going in basketball and we intend to do our best to see that it continues.

"I would personally like to thank the players, parents and fans who have helped me along the way," Stewart said.

Stewart and his wife Cheryl reside at 21361 Wintergreen Drive.

Weather

Sunny today with a high in the middle 70s. Mostly cloudy tonight with a low near 50. Increasing cloudiness with a chance of showers or thunderstorms Saturday and temperatures in the middle 70s. Chances of precipitation, 10 per cent today, 20 per cent tonight and 30 per cent Saturday. Thursday's high was 75 with a low of 44. The sun will set 7:10 p.m. today and rise 5:53 a.m. Saturday.



Subscription Rates To Go Up In May

Due to the spiraling costs the weekly subscription price of The Herald will be increased beginning May 2. The price by carrier will be 90 cents per week. The price for single issues at newstands will be 20 cents per copy.

Senior citizens carrying the Golden Buckeye Card will receive a 10 per cent discount on all subscriptions paid for in advance at The Herald business office.

The increase became necessary because newsprint and supply costs have soared in the last three years. Newsprint alone has increased in price six times.

Newspaper carriers and motor route drivers will share in the increase.

ROUNDTOWN

COUNTY Commissioners will hold a hearing 2 p.m. Monday on the proposed flood insurance for unincorporated areas in the county . . .

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has completed soil survey maps, which point out the "water deposited soils," or those areas most likely to be flooded. Land around all the streams in the county are included, as well as other low-lying swails and ditches . . .

Any landowner in the county who thinks his land might be affected, can find out by checking maps in the commissioners office . . .

It was noted by Pricilla Steele that if the commissioners approve the flood insurance for the county, anyone may purchase it . . . Although it is not mandatory, if the land marked as possible flood sites is sold, the buyer must purchase insurance if the loan goes through a bank or loaning association.

Circleville Board Accepts Retirements, Resignations

By CRAIG ALLISON
Herald Staff Writer

The Circleville Board of Education met in regular session Thursday night in the board offices in the Junior High building.

As the first item on the agenda, the board gave approval to several resignations, retirements, and requests to be relieved of extra-curricular assignments.

Certificated staff members announcing their retirements included Doris Cloud, South Court Street Elementary; Velma Eberly, high school; Evalene Wolford, Corwin Elementary; Lois Brobst, high school; Walter Owens, junior high school principal; and Winifred Breegle, high school and junior high school.

Resignations submitted included Virginia Fuller, South Court Street Elementary; Elizabeth Vansickle, high school and elementary art; Jackie Howard, learning disabilities, Nicholas Drive; Patricia Southward, school psychologist; Eleen England, South Court; and Neal Handler, high school.

Non-certificated retirements included Roma Troutman, cafeteria coordinator and head cook at the junior high school; Eloise Starkey, cook at the high school; and Eleanor Stocklen, Title I teacher aide at South Court Street Elementary.

Non-certificated resignations included Gloria Simison, a teacher aide at High Street; and Ronnie McCain, custodian, effective March 24, 1977.

The board also gave approval to the following employment recommendations: Carol Albright, as a business education teacher with seven years' teaching experience; and Jean Ellen Jenkins, as a special education and learning disabilities teacher. A non-certificated employment recommendation was approved also. Marion Fisher will be employed as a cook at the High School effective with the school opening for the 1977-78 year.

Approval was given to a list of teacher, administrative, employe, and extracurricular recommendations for the 1977-78 contractual year. Among these approvals was appointing Dennis Stewart as the head basketball coach. Jim Diltz was approved as the new reserve coach, and Ty Ankrom will be the new freshman coach.

Salary schedules for certificated and non-certificated personnel effective for the contractual year 1977-78 were approved.

The board members gave approval to additional policy items as a result of negotiations with the Circleville Education Association. Items 4 and 10 of the personal leave policy was revised. Term life insurance increased from $10,000 to $12,000 for all personnel both certificated and non-certificated effective January 1, 1978. Cumulative sick days were increased from 135 to 150 beginning with September 1977. Board payment for university-college expenses guideline will remain the same with the exception of the following changes: maximum number of hours, approval for any one calender year for school system is 135 hours or 202 quarter hours. Payment is $34.75 for semester hours and $23.20 for quarter hours. The maximum number of hours per employe is 12 semester hours or 18 quarter hours with initial request. Members may apply for additional consideration if total maximum hours are not committed by April 1 of each year. All course work must be in the teaching field assigned or in the area of certification or relevance to the teaching field must be presented subject to the approval of the Superintendent.

The board also gave approval to revisions in the philosophy of the school system.

Superintendent Fritz Jacobs asked board members to approve the closing of the Corwin Street Elementary Building on a temporary basis. Said Jacobs, "This is a temporary basis only, a year-to-year study of the situation. I advise against mothballing the building. It would cost thousands of dollars to properly mothball the building and to start it back up again if the need arose, and I also feel that it damages the building. If we close the building and keep it on maintenance heat, it will not cost as much as mothballing,, and we would be able to quickly prepare the building for use if we would need it."

Jacobs gave the following reasons for requesting the closing of the building:

The sixth grade will move out to the seventh grade.

The present fourth and fifth grades, which would be the only remaining grades, could be merged into South Court Street and Mound Street Schools as were the first, second, and third grades at Corwin this year. Doing this would not create any enrollment problems.

These students would be assigned to the same school by area as the first three grades were assigned this year to Mound and South Court.

The two remaining teachers at Corwin will be reassigned to other elementary positions. The third teacher, Mrs. Evalene Wolford, is retiring.

Jacobs stated again that some fuel saving would result, and that the building should be readily available for future consideration when enrollment warrants reactivating the building for educationsl purposes. After some discussion, the Board gave approval to Jacobs' recommendation.

Approval was given to a school calendar recommendation.

It was approved to reimburse Richard Fisher for taking math students to a contest at Chillicothe on March 12.

Lila Myers was added to the elementary substiture teachers list.

The following attendance at professional meetings was given:

Lynn Matyas — Vocal Cord Nodules Conference - March 24, Columbus, Ohio; Linda Doyle — Vocal Cord Nodules Conference - March 24, Columbus, Ohio; Karen Rafeld — Girls State Basketball Tournament-April 1 Columbus, Ohio; Dennis Stewart — Boys State Basketball Tournament -

Robert Liston, Pickaway County Commissioner; Mrs. Tom Bennett, president of the Library Board of Trustees; and Nelle Oesterle, president of the Friends of the Library.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market opened on the downside today as President Carter unveiled his inflationfighting program.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks slipped nearly a point in the early going, and declines took a slight edge over advances among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The President's decision Thursday to scrap his $50 tax rebate plan was a relief to many investors, and the market moved broadly higher in the the heaviest trading of the year.

However, the Federal Reserve Board put a damper on trader enthusiasm, announcing a large jump in the nation's money supply, a factor that could lead to tighter monetary controls.

Today's early prices include Westinghouse Electric, unchanged at 19⅞; Ford, up ⅛ to 56¾; and Kresge, at 32⅛ ahead ¼.

On Thursday the Dow Jones average, up more than 13 points during the day, finished ahead 8.82 points at 947.00.

Gainers outnumbered losers nearly 4-1 on the NYSE.

Big Board volume reached 30.49 million shares, the largest volume since Sept. 22, 1976, when it tallied 32.97 million shares. Wednesday's volume was 21.80 million.

The NYSE's composite index added .47 to 54.92.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .77 at 112.82.

President . . .

Federal Reserve Board hailed Carter's decision. "This is an extraordinary act of honesty and courage on the part of the President," said Burns, who may have helped kill the rebates with his repeated warnings to Congress that they would be inflationary,

Labor leaders withheld comment on the rebate decision, although Carter said he believes President George Meany of the AFL-CIO supported it. He said he had consulted labor leaders.

Most reaction in Congress was swift and approving, although Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, accused the President of breaking a promise to persons needing the money to pay high fuel charges and other bills.

"The people have been told since last December that this relief is coming," Muskie said. "They have been looking forward to it.... We ought to keep faith with them."

The rebate had been facing an uncertain fate in the Senate.

Sen. Russell Long, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said he believes the rebate could have won Senate approval, "but not without the administration's support."

"If the economy sags, the rebate may be renewed; we'll just have to wait and see," said the Louisiana Democrat.

Auditor Sends Funds

State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson reported today the April distribution of $6,396,052.21 in Local Government Fund money to Ohio's 88 counties and 388 cities and villages levying local income taxes.

Under the Local Government Fund formula the counties received 11-12ths of the amount, or $5,863,047.86, while the municipalities having their own income taxes shared the remaining $533,004.35.

There are 388 municipalities levying local income taxes. However, the Auditor's office is withholding monthly payments to two villages in favor of a lump sum payment to each at the end of the year. Withheld this month was $2.77 due the Village of Timberlake, Lake County, and $3.25 due the Village of Canal Winchester, Franklin County.

The Local Government Fund distribution is made monthly from 3.5 per cent of the previous month's collections of the state income, sales and corporation taxes. The use of the percentage factor causes the amount available for distribution to local governmental units to fluctuate monthly, Ferguson said.

In March, the month on which the April distribution was based, the state collected $84,996,039.39 from the sales tax, $39,886,984.71 from the income tax and $57,861,324.70 from corporation tax.

The Pickaway County Treasurer received $13,445.74, while the Treasurer of the city of Circleville received $301.94. The total payments to Pickaway County were $13,747.68.

Three Thefts Investigated By Deputies

Three theft reports are being investigated by Deputies of the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Tina Harris, Lot 24, Shady Acres Trailer Park, told Deputy Billy Huffman that thieves took her billfold from the kitchen table of her home between 7 p.m. and 11 p.m. Thursday.

The billfold contained $600 in cash.

Thieves used a wire to break into a locked car owned by Ricky Little, 5057 Cook Road, South Bloomfield.

The car was parked at the Teays Valley High School Thursday between 6:45 a.m. and 1 p.m., according to Deputy William Carmean.

Once inside, the thieves took an Audiovox 23-channel citizen band radio valued at $93.55, and an eight-track Motorola tape player valued at $45.

Pamela K. Pitt, 224½ N. Main St., Williamsport, told Deputy Nick Franklin that thieves took 14 eight-track stereo tapes and a tape carrier from her car April 11.

The tapes are valued at $92.

Dear Abby:

How To Tell Quacks From Counselors

DEAR ABBY, I have noticed that you frequently advise your readers to see a marriage counselor. A married friend of mine once went to a marriage counselor she found through an ad in the paper, and you wouldn't believe some of the suggestions he made to her. He told her to get herself a "boyfriend"-and the younger, the better. He also encouraged her to join a nudist colony.

He said HE was a member, and he even showed her one of the "camp" magazines. She paid him for a year's "counseling" in advance, and after five weeks she went to his office for an appointment and found that he had moved and left no forwarding address.

I am not saying all marriage counselors are like this one, but how is a person supposed to know the honest ones from the crooks? They all call themselves "Doctors" and their walls are covered with diplomas that look "real" to the average person.

Mrs. H.W.S.

DEAR MRS. H.W.S.: Yours is an excellent question. If you are uncertain about the qualifications of those who advertise themselves as "marriage counselors," ask your family doctor, clergyman or the Better Business Bureau to recommend one. If there is a university in (or near) your town, write to the head of the psychology department for a recommendation.

If the above sources are unavailable, write to The American Association of Marriage and Family Counselors, 225 Yale Avenue, Claremont, Calif. 91711, and ask them to refer you to someone in your area.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from Paul's wife whose husband had the annoying habit of salting his food before tasting it reminds me of a supposedly true story.

A personnel director who was responsible for hiring executives would always invite the job applicant out for lunch as part of the interview. If he salted his food before tasting it, he deduced that he made decisions without first investigating.

Interesting?

M.E.H.

DEAR M.E.H.: Yes. And a reasonable conclusion, too.

DEAR ABBY: What is meant by "immediate family": I say it includes mother, father, sisters and brothers. My friend says it also includes aunts, uncles and cousins.

Who is right?

NEW YORKER

DEAR NEW YORKER: You are.

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS

Sealed bids for the purchase of $102,600 bonds of the Village of Ashville (herein referred to as the Issuer) in the County of Pickaway, Ohio, will be received by the undersigned officer at his office, Village Hall, 160 Long Street, Ashville, Ohio 43103, until one o'clock, p.m., Daylight Savings Time, on the 16th day of May, 1977, at which time the bids will be opened and read publicly. Bids for the bonds, which were authorized by legislation enacted on March 21, 1977, shall be sealed and endorsed "Bid for 1977 Street Improvement Bonds", and each bid shall be made only for all or none of such bonds.

It is contemplated that the bond issuing authority will meet at eight o'clock, p.m., on the 16th day of May, 1977, to consider the bids and make an award.

The bonds will be dated the first day of May, 1977, will be in the denomination of $5,000 each, except bond No. 1 in the denomination of $2,600 and will draw interest payable semi-annually on the first days of June and December of each year, beginning December 1, 1977, at that rate of seven per centum (7 per cent) per annum. Anyone desiring to do so may present a bid for said bonds based upon their bearing a different single rate of interest, but not in excess of eight per centum (8 per cent) per annum, provided that where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one-eighth of one per cent or a multiple thereof. Split rate bids and bids with supplemental coupons will not be considered.

The bonds mature as follows: $7,600 on December 1, 1978 and $5,000 on December 1 in each of the years from 1979 to 1997, both inclusive.

The bonds are issued in anticipation of the levy and collection of special assessments heretofore levied to pay the costs of improving Jefferson Street and Station Street, between certain termini, by grading, paving, curbing, draining and constructing gutters and storm sewers.

The bonds will be payable, without deduction for the services of the Issuer's paying agent, at the office of The Ashville Bank of Ashville, Ashville, Ohio, and unless paid from other sources, are to be paid by the levy of ad valorem taxes, within the limitations imposed by law, subject to the provisions of Chapter IX of the Federal Bankruptcy Act and other laws affecting creditors' rights.

The proceedings for this issue have been taken under the supervision of Squire, Sanders and Dempsey, whose approving opinion will be furnished at the cost of the successful bidder and will be printed on the bonds. The Issuer will pay the cost of printing the bonds. A complete transcript of proceedings will be furnished by the Issuer, together with a certificate showing no litigation pending or threatened at the time of the delivery to enjoin delivery or to contest the validity of the bonds or the power to issue them or the levy or collection of taxes for their payment.

CUSIP numbers will be printed on the bonds if available and requested by the successful bidder. Any delay, error or omission with respect thereto shall not constitute cause for the successful bidder to refuse to accept delivery of and pay for the bonds. Any CUSIP Service Bureau charge for the assignment of the numbers shall be the responsibility of the successful bidder.

The bids will promptly be considered, and the bonds will be sold to the highest bidder offering the lowest interest rate at not less than par and accrued interest. The lowest interest rate will be determined by calculating the total interest to stated maturity at the rate bid and deducting therefrom any premium bid. If each of two or more bids is the highest bid offering the lowest interest rate, the bonds will be awarded on such one of the highest bids as is chosen by lot. All bids must be accompanied by cash, bank cashier's or official's check or certified check payable to the Issuer, or any combination thereof, aggregating one per cent of the par amount of the bonds, upon the condition that, if the bid is accepted, the bidder will receive and pay for the bonds in accordance with the terms and provisions of this notice. No bank bidding for the bonds shall file its own cashier's or official's check, nor a check certified by it. Such security shall be held by the Issuer unused pending delivery of the bonds and forfeited as full liquidated damages in the event of default by the successful bidder.

In the event that, prior to their delivery, the interest on the bonds should by act of Congress or otherwise become subject to federal income taxes, or any act of Congress should provide that the interest income on the bonds shall be taxable at a future date for federal income tax purposes, whether directly or indirectly, the successful bidder may refuse to accept delivery and in such event his bid security shall be returned without interest.

The bonds shall be delivered for payment within the State of Ohio to the successful bidder or to a bank designated by the successful bidder without charge. If delivered at a place outside of the State of Ohio, the successful bidder shall pay the expense of delivery at that place. The expense of delivery within the State of Ohio shall not be considered in determining the highest bidder.

Before making tender of the bonds at that place of delivery, the Issuer shall give written notice to the successful bidder not later than the fifth business day before the proposed tender, of the fact that the bonds, transcript, no-litigation certificate and approving opinion will be available for delivery and giving the date and hour for the tender at the place of delivery, provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall prevent the making of a mutually agreeable arrangement for the delivery of the bonds either at the place fixed for delivery or elsewhere.

If such notice has not been given by the Issuer or waived by the successful bidder and the bonds, transcript, no-litigation certificate and approving opinion are not available for delivery to the successful bidder at such place of delivery on or before 12:00 o'clock noon of the 30th calendar day after the day fixed for the receipt of bids, and the successful bidder shall not be in default of any of his obligations, he shall have the right there-after, and so long as no such tender by the Issuer shall yet have been made, to cancel the contract of purchase. Any such right shall be exercised by dellvering written notice of such cancellation to the undersigned or to the office of the undersigned during business hours. Such bidder shall thereupon be entitled to the return of the deposit which accompanied his bid and it shall be returned to him immediately.

The right is reserved to reject bids.

West Tabbed Ambassador To Saudia Arabia

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter reportedly plans to name former Gov. John C. West of South Carolina as ambassador to Saudi Arabia.

West's selection was reported today by the Washington Post, which also said Carter will name Cleveland businessman Milt Wolf ambassador to Austria and career diplomat Charles W. Bray III deputy director of the U.S. Information Agency.

West, an early backer of Carter's presidential bid, is a friend of Carter from their days as governor. Both were state chief executives from 1970 to 1974.

Since leaving office, West has been involved in several business deals with the Arabs, the Post said, and while governor he led two trade missions from South Carolina to Saudi Arabia.

Wolf is a longtime supporter of Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, and helped Carter raise funds for the Ohio primary last year. Bray is a deputy assistant secretary of state.

Gene Watson: From Body Shop To Records

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Gene Watson gave up reshaping cars as a body shop man to carve a successful country music career that includes four Top 10 hits in just two years.

Watson, from Houston, Tex., worked in a body shop for 12 years before deciding to devote full time to music. His gamble paid off with hits such as "Love in the Hot Afternoon," "You Could Know As Much About a Stranger," "Where Love Begins" and his current "Paper Rosie," which is near the top of the charts.

"I'd have laughed if someone had told me 10 years ago that I'd have a No. 1 hit," Watson said while sipping coffee at a Music Row record company. "I'm no Elvis, but what I have been able to do in the past years was all worth it. It makes me want to work harder."

Watson, 33, is a so-called "hard" country singer who spends 85 per cent of his time on the road with a two-piece band. Often compared to Merle Haggard, he was in Nashville to tape the snydicated "Pop Goes Country" television show.

He gave up his body shop job in Houston in 1975 after working in the shop during the day and combining that with playing at night for the better part of eight years.

"I worked at night simply because I loved the music. I was making good money since I had two jobs. But lots of mornings I was late getting to work. I put a lot of people out just so I could play at night.

"It was an extremely big decision. I knew I could get by at what I was doing, but I wasn't sure about music. But I decided to give it a try.

"It's a shaky situation to get into something you've never tried before. At that point, I hadn't been in but about four states.

"I liked working on cars and I always had. It takes more talent to do it than most people realize. But I always wanted to play music."

His tools, some $7,000 worth, remain in his garage.

"You never know what might happen," he said.

While still holding two jobs, he patterned his musical style after Haggard.

"He has always been one of my favorites. I learned everything he came out with and even phrased like him. Then a guy told me I had Hag down flat, so I started training myself to do things other ways."

He picks his own material to record, which is unusual. It's normally done by the producer.

"There wouldn't be any point in me recording a song I had no faith in," he explained. "I'm basically a ballad singer, not too oriented to up-tempo songs. I'm just patterned more to ballads.

"And I'm not looking for a crossover hit. I'm pure country. I could never sing a pop song."

More CB Enforcement On The Way

WASHINGTON (AP) — Aware of complaints about conditions often approaching chaos, the Federal Communications Commission is preparing to ask Congress for nearly $3 million to police Citizens Band radio and expedite CB license applications.

If approved, the money would permit Uncle Charlie, as the FCC is known, to double its staff responsible for enforcing CB regulations and provide additional manpower to a licensing bureau overwhelmed with the growth of CB radio.

Some CBers, frustrated by frequent willful interference, obscene language and problems caused by use of illegal equipment, will wonder whether it's enough.

In its original budget request earlier this year, Uncle Charlie sought $59.8 million for the fiscal year starting Oct. 1, a net increase of $2.9 million over this year's budget.

Chairman Richard E. Wiley told a House appropriations subcommittee the increase would permit hiring 26 new staffers, only three of whom would be connected with the Citizens Band Radio Service. And their CB activities would be shared with other FCC responsibilities.

At the same time, Wiley acknowledged the phenomenal growth of CB — he compared it to an explosion — "from some 50,000 (license) applications per month two years ago to about 500,000 per month at the start of this fiscal year."

Due in part to Christmas sales and the elimination of the $4 application fee, nearly 1 million licenses were issued in January alone.

But after a review of the CB program, a ranking agency source told The Associated Press, that a supplemental budget request is being prepared that will seek about 100 new positions just for the CB program at a cost "of close to $3 million."

"These would include 40 for enforcement, 40 for licensing and 20 for education," the source said.

Implying the FCC would liked to have sought additional funds, he said the agency felt any request for even more money and manpower would have met deaf ears on Capitol Hill.

Despite this, the request is not likely to satisfy many CBers who express their disgust — on the air, and in letters to congressmen, newspapers, CB magazines and columnists — with the situation often found on the channels.

Channels in some areas are so cluttered with legal conversation it's difficult to talk. Added to this problem, the critics say, is the abuse: CBers stepping on transmissions and throwing carriers, and using profanity and high-powered amplifiers that bleed on adjacent channels.

Civil Rights Now Concern Ex-Nader Man

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal civil rights enforcement is slow, inconsistent and unfair, President Carter's top adviser for government reorganization says.

Harrison Wellford indicated a new, merged agency may eventually be recommended to correct matters.

"We're concerned about the drag on civil rights compliance efforts. ... We're very concerned about the lack of predictability, consistency in civil rights regulations," said the head of Carter's reorganization team in an interview Wednesday.

Wellford said his unit will study civil rights enforcement, now scattered among the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, the departments of Justice, Labor, and Health, Education and Welfare, the General Services Administration and other agencies.

Wellford, one of the original Nader's Raiders, is now an associate director of the Office of Management and Budget and the man with primary responsibility for carrying out Carter's campaign pledge to make the federal government more efficient and responsive to individual citizens.

Ohio Unemployed Lines Get Longer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The number of people filing initial claims for unemployment benefits increased during the week ending April 9, according to the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services.

Administrator Albert Giles said 15,185 newly unemployed workers filed initial claims under all jobless programs, a 12.5 per cent increase over the previous week's total.

But the number of jobless Ohioans filing claims under all programs, initial and continued, was estimated at 160,361, a 3.1 per cent drop from the week ending April 2.

Giles said 3,375 out of work residents had exhausted their benefits under all programs.

A Page Of Opinion

Energy Route Choice

In a matter of days the administration is going to present its energy program to Congress. For months thereafter, the subject of energy-praticularly the conservation of it — will be discussed with a seriousness not seen before.

A Congress which has demonstrated its independence from the White House on less important issues can be expected to voice strong opinions in constructing a national energy policy. The odds are high that it will not accept all of the President's proposals and will add some of its own.

Before the energy debate begins in earnest, it is worth noting there are two basic approaches to a policy of conservation. One is the penalty approach, which through added taxes or other government-imposed penalties acts as a roadblock to consumption while diverting added revenues to government coffers.

The second approach is to deregulate prices and otherwise free market forces to find their own levels and provide both the capital and consumer incentives necessary to conserve and search for new sources. Both approaches will increase costs; both will act to conserve a scarce resource.

But the one imposes arbitrary standards set by a small group of people and does not necessarily reallocate resources into productive efforts. The other is of far broader participation, forcing the decisions to be made by the interactions of consumers and producers.

Which general policy to follow is the first question both Congress and the administration need to answer.

Ultimate Therapy

By JIM BISHOP

Dinner at The Players was elegant. Men of accomplishment framed the snowy tablecloths. They gathered in Gramercy Square to drink deeply of good conversation. The costumes of Edwin Booth and the Barrymores stared bleakly from breakfronts.

The pea soup was hot and thick. Dr. Richard Hoffmann, handsome and old, wished he was Horace Redfield. Hoffmann, the last of Sigmund Freud's students, was a Park Avenue psychiatrist. He wasn't content.

He wished he was Horace Redfield because Horace was a fine painter. Redfield didn't have the pea soup. He doodled on the tablecloth. What he drew was a succession of heads of his beautiful wife, Red.

She was no more beautiful than what he drew. And no less. She had broken Redfield's heart, and now his mind began to crack. Secretly, he wished he was Doctor Hoffmann. If he was a psychiatrist he would better understand his problem. His misery.

For years, the doctor and the artist had been friends. Now they were physician and patient. Horace had reached the pinnacle midway between Howard Chandler Christy and James Montgomery Flagg. His speciality was beautiful women. They were in one-man shows on Madison Avenue and they adorned the covers of the great magazines.

He had stopped painting a year ago. Perhaps, as the doctor suggested, there is such a thing as being too much in love, too totally committed. A man could lose his soul inside his own shrine.

Horace smiled at that. The rationale did not amuse him. He smiled because he now saw love as the ultimate in treachery. He was young and hungry when he married Red. They had sustained the blows of poverty together. When Horace became famous, he was astonished. Red wasn't.

"Honey," she said, "it was just a question of how long it would take the world to recognize genius." With his first riches, he had bought a big farmhouse near Fairfield, Connecticut.

He didn't want a farm. Horace wanted space. Six hundred feet from the big house was a barn. Redfield had the hayloft rigged as a studio. There he painted. There his mind envisioned the great ladies of the world and there they came to life on white canvas.

Life had too much to offer: a farm, recognition, riches, and love. Too much. Horace treaded the edge of life gingerly, as though all of the goodnesses would break into fragments.

They did. On a winter day, Don Peters came to the door. He was tall and dark a man the art students used to call the "Louisiana Loser." Once, long ago, Horace and Don had studied together. Don carried a big flat case full of pigments, brushes and small canvasses.

Redfield invited him in. Red disliked him at once. Horace said he had to help; Don was broke. The man couldn't give his paintings away. He needed encouragement. Life had been good to Horace. He owed something.

Red was quietly furious. "If you're going to give that bum houseroom," she said, "set up a cot in the hayloft. I don't want him in the house." And that's where Don spent the winter.

With food, lodging, a few tips in technique, Don Peters began to paint. By autumn, he was selling stuff. Just before Christmas, Horace found the note.

"Sorry sweetheart," it read. "Don and I are leaving together. Please don't make a fuss. Your art always meant more to you than I. Remember, I'm the one who begged you to turn the man away. Kisses, Red."

Horace stopped painting. And thinking. And living. He drank pretty well. And dwelled on suicide. Sometimes, in Dr. Hoffmann's office, he shared his despair with his old friend.

It was the doctor who tired of the long sessions. One day he said: "No use. You haven't improved. If you really want to get well, take a short cut. Do an oil of Red and Don in a tight embrace. Then look at it and accept it. There is no other approach."

Redfield seethed. "If you weren't so old," he said softly, "I'd break your mouth." Hoffmann shrugged and turned away. The thick winter pea soup had been forgotten the following summer. The table cloth doodles too.

Hoffmann was between appointments. He was dictating letters. Horace walked in. He set the frame down and tore the paper from it. The doctor saw a brilliant painting of Red in the arms of a dark stranger. Hoffmann looked up. Horace's head was hanging.

The doctor told me about the painting. It was the only one in his beautiful home which reposed in the darkness of a closet . . .

Business World

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A threehour White House meeting with top officials of the Carter administration has left some small-business leaders more encouraged about their role in the economy than in many years.

The March 29 meeting was attended for a time by President Carter and later by Vice President Walter F. Mondale, along with many top White House, department and agency personnel, and by members of various business associations.

"Potentially it was the most significant meeting we ever had with a president," said Milton Stewart, president of the National Small Business Association.

The talks covered a vast range of issues, including the frustrating paperwork load that some businessmen claim is almost destroying their efforts, and the inability of small business to obtain what it considers to be a fair percentage of federal procurements.

The business leaders said they were especially encouraged by the promise of continued access to White House officials, perhaps on a regular monthly basis, rather than because of any specific promises.

Said one: "Suddenly we've got entree; people are willing to listen to us. Never has there been a time when a president would recognize small business as a national force."

Herbert Liebenson, a legislative officer with the National Small Business Association, commented afterward that "Now we have a counterforce to the Business Roundtable," an organization of chief executives of the nation's very largest companies.

Small business has for years attempted to counter what it claims is a preponderance of power wielded by big government, big business and big labor, none of which it says speaks for the small-business man.

Stewart called on the President to expand small business's share of federal procurements by $9 billion to $10 billion a year, giving small business a 35 per cent share as against 24 per cent now.

He also proposed that small business's share of federal research and development expenditures be increased from what he said was a "scandalous" 3.5 per cent to 10 per cent or more.

And he suggested also that business be relieved of the myriad informational forms it must provide the government and instead be obligated for only two reports a year: an income tax return and a general information report.

During the presidential election campaign, Stewart's group won from Carter approval of a recommendation to set as a goal a greater growth for small business than for big business and government.

The candidate's approval was sought at that time, said Stewart, because of the frustration of small and medium businesses in competing with bigness and, in fact, protecting themselves from acquisitions by big business.

Stewart indicated that Carter hopes to carry out his commitment to greater growth for small business, which many businessmen consider to be all but the top 1,200, or the 'bigs.'

The Ohio Improved Order of Red Men gathered in Circleville for a meeting, a forerunner to the Bicentennial drive. A parade was scheduled to begin at City Hall.

Presbyterian Men's Club meeting featured Guy Culp, talking about his trip to Cuba. Music for the meeting was provided by Miss Johnda Tootle accompanied by Mrs. E. R. Toensmaier.

At the Circleville Benevolent Association, reports were heard discouraging child begging. It was noted that practice of children begging to obtain money for picture shows, candy, etc., should be stopped. The group encouraged the public not to donate, because it encourages the habit. The report was by Miss Clara Southward, social worker.

Damaging frost was experienced by Pickaway Countians, as temperatures registered at a minimum of 24 degrees. Apple orchards were reportedly saved throughout the frost, but many peaches were lost, because at least one-eighth of the peaches were in bloom.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

High cholesterol runs in my family. Are there any new drugs that can reduce the cholestrol count in the blood? I'm a fairly big eater and weigh about 40 pounds more than I should.

Mr. T.T., R.I.

Dear Mr. T.:

I gather from the rest of your letter that you are seeking a magic wand that will lower your blood cholesterol and relieve you of playing a responsible part in accomplishing it.

Drugs alone will not be effective if you don't limit the kind of foods you eat and the amount. The accumulation of extra weight, cigarette smoking and uncontrolled high blood pressure are important in the total management of the patient with high cholestrol and triglyceride levels.

There are a number of effective drugs for lowering the cholestrol. A new one, probucol, was recently developed and reported in the scientific literature. In a large series of well-controlled cases, most of the patients lost about 20 per cent of the cholesterol levels in the blood.

In the clinical trials, running over a period of eight years, there was remarkable freedom from side effects. This and other drugs are being used successfully, but only in a well-organized program that is directed at the total problem.

I would like to learn how to do resuscitation in case the need ever arises. I'm 17.

Carl J., Miss.

Dear Carl:

It's admirable for you to want to be involved in the possibility of saving a life. Many young readers show interest in learning the techniques that can be life-saving when difficult situations arise.

Courses in resuscitation now include a vast amount of information about life-saving measures for people who suffer a heart attack.

The American Red Cross, The YMCA, local hospitals, health centers, and Scout organizations offer courses which can, in a very short time, prepare you to play a role in life-saving emergencies.

I am also certain that in schools and colleges courses can be arranged with visiting instructors.

Police and fire departments, too, offer excellent programs for resuscitation.

The gratification of saving a life is limitless. Everyone should be equipped to handle emergencies. It's easy to learn. All you need is the desire and the caring.

New Yorkers Offered Cash By Gun Club

NEW YORK (AP) — A New York gun club has declared its own war on crime, offering $200 cash bounties to robbery victims who shoot and kill their attackers.

"The award is specifically for meritorious cases.... It's just for certain instances," Gerald Preiser, head of the 5,000-member Federation of Greater New York Pistol and Rifle Clubs, said Wednesday. "We call it a courageous citizen's award."

Others have suggested a more apt term would be bounty, the scourge of the Old West. Without exception, city officials denounce the idea.

"This kind of approach is why we have been pushing so diligently for strong gun control," said Mayor Abraham Beame.

But Preiser said that sort of attitude is just political talk and does not deter crime.

"We're at a point where the city has gone so far downhill that there are too many illegal guns and too few legal guns. We feel people should be encouraged to defend themselves."

The gun group already has singled out three merchants for awards, all victims of recent attempted robberies. Four persons were shot and killed and another was wounded during the robberies.

Preiser, 42, said the offer is now limited to merchants, but may be expanded "if we get enough money through contributions and other avenues to meet demand."

Preiser, who is a manufacturer of children's outerwear, said it's time for the average New York City resident to think about arming and protecting himself. He said he favors a .45 caliber automatic as his sidearm.

He maintained there is no need to fear that the awards will spur an increase in gun battles in New York's concrete canyons.

Preiser said he had never shot anyone. "I've assisted in several citizen's arrests, but I've never drawn my gun or shot anyone."

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

I do not approve of your reprinting, on the front page of your newspaper dated April 9th, the article questioning the diety of Jesus Christ. It is even worse that this was published the day before Easter.

In the Second Epistle of Peter, Chapter 1, Vs. 16, 17, 18, 20 and 21 we read "For we have not followed cunningly devised fables, when we made known unto you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but were eye-witnesses of his majesty. For he received from God the Father honour and glory, When there came such a voice to him from the excellent glory, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased. And this voice which came from heaven we heard, when we were with him in the holy mount. Knowing this first, that no prophecy of the scripture is of any private interpretation. For the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man: but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost."

I'll take God's word over Mr. Grant's anytime. Praise his holy name forever. Thank you for taking time to read this.

Dear Editor:

The Leukemia Society of America Inc., Central Ohio Chapter has concluded its annual door-to-door campaign in Pickaway County for 1976.

Nearly four hundred fifty residents unselfishly donated their time and dedicated their spirit to collect $5,905.40. This represents an increase of $265.23 over 1975.

The generosity of both the "volunteer marchers" and the contributors can't be applauded enough. Needless to say, it is just this quality of dedication and zeal to help, that makes Pickaway Countians so unique.

It is impossible to identify individually everyone whose contribution is so deeply appreciated. Again as in the past, Mr. Frank Gans of the First National Bank and Mrs. Jean Ankrom of the Chamber of Commerce continued their valuable support.

On April 26th and 27th the Leukemia Society will benefit when the local "Hair Happening" Styling Salon, 207 Lancaster Pike, donates all proceeds from haircuts and styling to the Central Ohio Chapter to go to research, patient aid and education.

Very truly Yours,
JOHN R. ADKINS

Call Sign Ignoring Greatest CB Abuse

WASHINGTON (AP) — Almost all CBers have "numbers," but refusal to use their Federal Communications Commission call signs accounts for the greatest abuse of Citizen Band radio regulations.

In fact Uncle Charlie, as the FCC is known, ranks failure to identify CB stations by their call signs at the top of the commission's "trigger violations," or enforcement priorities.

The use of call signs is required by international treaty, says Deputy Chief James C. McKinney of the Field Operations Bureau, the FCC's enforcement arm.

"It's main purpose is to control interference," McKinney explains. "When interference does occur, other stations can easily identify the offender and the responsible government agency then can take appropriate action," he says.

Use of call signs also aids enforcement of other rules, McKinney adds.

"We're seeing much greater use of call signs," he says. "There was a time when we had only 5 per cent compliance, but we're now running 35 to 40 per cent. That's still too low, but it's a great improvement."

One reason for the increased use of numbers, perhaps, is the recent FCC action permitting CBers to go on the air almost immediately after getting a new radio.

A CBer now can begin "modulating" legally just by sending the FCC the license application usually packed with his new rig and using a temporary call sign until the permanent license arrives.

The temporary number is composed of the letter "K," the CBer's first and last initial and his postal zip code.

Until this change, CBers were required to wait until their permanent license arrived. This often meant a wait of two months or more — a wait many new CBers ignored.

McKinney also says the recent boom in CBs has brought with it a different type of radio operator, one more likely to abide by regulations.

The FCC also found its new licensing procedure reduced the number of unlicensed CB operators. A survey last fall showed 10 per cent of the nation's estimated 20 million CBers without licenses — and legal call signs — compared to 34 per cent during fiscal 1974.

CBers can use their handles, or nicknames, and CB club numbers with their FCC numbers, but failure to use the call sign at the beginning and at the end of each transmission is subject to an FCC fine of up to $500.

More than 3,000 fines were imposed last year.

The most prevalent abuse of the call-sign requirement probably is on Channel 19, the frequency most used by truckers and the traveling public. Seldom does one hear numbers there.

Veterans Questions Answered

EDITOR'S NOTE: Each week the Circleville Herald will publish a series of Questions and Answers of interest to veterans. These questions are some of the many presented to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer. Any veteran desiring further information on any question presented in this column, or having any questions concerning the benefits of Veterans Administration should contact the Veterans Service Officer, at 219 South Court Street.

(Q.) My father is in a nursing home. What proof does he need to be eligible for the special allowance for veterans who need aid and attendance?

(A.) A statement from the director or custodian of records of the nursing home stating that the claimant is a patient who requires nursing home care, or a certification by a private physician stating why care is required will be accepted as evidence of the need for aid and attendance.

(Q.) Can a veteran use his loan benefits to buy more than one home?

(A.) Yes. Once the debt has been paid on the loan that the VA has guaranteed the veteran is then again eligible for another VA loan.

(Q.) When a veteran's widow died recently, she had in her possession a death pension check from the VA. Is this check payable to anyone?

(A.) No. The check must be returned to the disbursing office which issued it. It may be reissued upon submission of claim to the nearest VA office to any children entitled to VA death benefits. In the event there are no eligible children, the check may be made payable to the person or persons who bore the expense of the last illness or burial.

(Q.) How many days must a person serve in the military to qualify for a pension?

(A.) A veteran must have served honorably for a period of 90 days or more during a time that was designated to be a period of war or a conflict.

(Q.) Can a veteran under the age of 65 qualify for a pension?

(A.) Yes. If he is considered to be 100 per cent disabled. The percentage of disability decreases as the veteran's age increases.

Elderly To Get Banquet Discount

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — When the annual Governor's Conference on Aging is held June 7-8, those who register early for meals will get some help in paying the check.

The first 2,000 registrants for meals will have half the cost of the $4 luncheons underwritten by the Commission on Aging. The conference drew about 3,000 participants last year.

Topics such as advocacy legislation for older people, health care and crime prevention will be discussed at the conference. Deadline for reservations is May 25.

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS

Sealed bids for the purchase of $225,000 of bonds of the County of Pickaway, Ohio (herein referred to as the Issuer), will be received by the undersigned officer in her offices in the Pickaway County Court House, South Court Street, Circleville, Ohio 43113, until 11:00 a.m. Eastern Daylight Saving Time, on the 9th day of May, 1977, at which time the bids will be opened and read publicly. Bids for the bonds, which were authorized by legislation enacted on April 11, 1977, shall be sealed and endorsed "Bid for Hospital Improvement Bonds", and each bid shall be made only for all or none of such bonds.

It is contemplated that the bond issuing authority will meet at 11:30 o'clock a.m., on the 9th day of May, 1977, to consider the bids and make an award.

The bonds will be dated the first day of May, 1977, will be in the denomination of $5,000 each, and will draw interest payment semi-annually on the first days of June and December of each year, beginning December 1, 1977, at the rate of five and one-half per centum (5-½ per cent) per annum. Anyone desiring to do so may present a bid for said bonds based upon their bearing a different single rate of interest, but not in excess of eight per centum (8 per cent) per annum, provided that where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one-eighth of one percent or a multiple thereof. Split rate bids and bids with supplemental coupons will not be considered.

The bonds mature as follows: $15,000 on December 1 in each of the years from 1978 to 1992, both inclusive.

The bonds are issued for the purpose of constructing an addition and improvements to the Berger Hospital.

The bonds are payable, without deduction for the services of the Issuer's paying agent, at the principal office of the legal depositary of the Issuer, presently The Savings Bank, Circleville, Ohio, and unless paid from other sources, are to be paid by the levy of ad valorem taxes within the limitations imposed by law, subject to the provisions of Chapter IX of the federal Bankruptcy Act and other laws affecting creditors' rights.

The proceedings fro this issue have been taken under the supervision of Squire, Sanders & Dempsey, whose approving opinion will be furnished at the cost of the successful bidder and will be printed on the bonds. The Issuer will pay the cost of printing the bonds. A complete transcript of the proceedings will be furnished by the Issuer, together with a certificate showing no litigation pending or threatened at the time of delivery to enjoin delivery or to contest the validity of the bonds or the power to issue them or the levy or collection of taxes for their payment.

CUSIP numbers will be printed on the bonds if available and requested by the successful bidder. Any delay, error or omission with respect thereto shall not constitute cause for the successful bidder to refuse to accept delivery of and pay for the bonds. Any CUSIP Service Bureau charge for the assignment of the numbers shall be the responsibility of the successful bidder.

The bids will promptly be considered, and the bonds will be sold to the highest bidder offering the lowest interest rate at not less than par and accrued interest. The lowest interest rate will be determined by calculating the total interest to stated maturity at the rate bid and deducting therefrom any premium bid. If each of two or more bids is the highest bid offering the lowest interest rate, the bonds will be awarded on such one of the highest bids as is chosen by lot. All bids must be accompanied by cash, bank cashier's or official's check or certified check payable to the Issuer, or any combination thereof, aggregating one percent of the par amount of the bonds, upon the condition that, if the bid is accepted, the bidder will receive and pay for the bonds in accordance with the terms and provisions of this notice. No bank bidding for the bonds shall file its own cashier's or official's check, nor a check certified by it. Such security shall be held by the Issuer unused pending delivery of the bonds and forfeited as full liquidated damages in the event of default by the successful bidder.

In the event that, prior to their delivery, the interest on the bonds should by act of Congress or otherwise become subject to Federal income taxes, or any act of Congress should provide that the interest income on the bonds shall be taxable at a future date for Federal income tax purposes, whether directly or indirectly, the successful bidder may refuse to accept delivery and in such event his bid security shall be returned without interest.

The bonds shall be delivered for payment within the State of Ohio to the successful bidder or to a bank designated by the successful bidder without charge. If delivered at a place outside of the State of Ohio, the successful bidder shall pay the expense of delivery at that place. The expense of delivery within the State of Ohio shall not be considered in determining the highest bidder.

Before making tender of the bonds at the place of delivery, the Issuer shall give written notice to the successful bidder not later than the fifth business day before the proposed tender, of the fact that the bonds, transcript, no-litigation certificate and approving opinion will be available for delivery and giving the date and hour for the tender at the place of delivery, provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall prevent the making of a mutually agreeable arrangement for the delivery of the bonds either at the place fixed for delivery or elsewhere.

If such notice has not been given by the Issuer or waived by the successful bidder and the bonds, transcript, no-litigation certificate and approving opinion are not available for delivery to the successful bidder at such place of delivery on or before 12:00 o'clock noon of the 30th calendar day after the day fixed for the receipt of bids, and the successful bidder shall not be in default of any of his obligations, he shall have the right thereafter, and so long as no such tender by the Issuer shall yet have been made, to cancel the contract of purchase. Any such right shall be exercised by delivering written notice of such cancellation to the undersigned or to the office of the undersigned during business hours. Such bidder shall thereupon be entitled to the return of the deposit which accompanied his bid and it shall be returned to him immediately.

The right is reserved to reject bids.

Great Expectations Gone Awry

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The close working relationship anticipated between a Democratic President and two Democratic senators from Ohio has fallen short of expectations thus far, Sen. Howard Metzenbaum concedes.

But it's improving, Metzenbaum said at a news conference in his district office here.

"I think they know that both Ohio senators are rather disappointed with developments," Metzenbaum said. "It has less to do with the President than it has to do with the whole team." Many of those on President Carter's staff are new to government work, he explained.

Metzenbaum and Glenn were bypassed in the naming of former Columbus school superintendent John Ellis, a Republican, as top assistant in the U.S. Office of Education, and federal appointments of other Ohioans have been limited.

The current situation, Metzenbaum said tactfully, "is not as bad as it might be, but it's not as good as it should be."

Hot Wine Is Cold Remedy

CHICAGO (AP) — Paul Kovi, restaurateur and wine authority, says that wine has long been thought to have medicinal value.

Kovi, writing in Sphere magazine, recalls his grandfather's remedy for the common cold, which he called "The Cure of the Two Hats."

Whenever he felt a cold coming on, he took to his bed, covering himself with warm quilts, but leaving one foot stuck out. That foot was covered with a hat. Then he called for some boiled wine. Kovi's grandfather said the wine should not only be hot, but spicy, flavored with orange peel, cinnamon stick, cloves and a few peppercorns.

The "cure" required drinking the wine until he saw two hats. The next day, Kovi's grandfather said, he would awaken "sound as an oak tree" and feeling ten years younger.

Kovi says that his grandfather lived to be 99, without ever having the sniffles.

Ohio's 1977 Tax Refunds Increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio has been paying out more money in state personal income tax refunds in 1977 than in the past two years, according to state Auditor Thomas Ferguson.

Ferguson says his office has refunded $40,514,533 so far this year, eclipsing dollar totals of the past two years by nearly $6,000,000.

The average amount of the refund check is also up over the past two years. At this time in 1976, said Ferguson, refund checks were averaging $23.75. But this year's are averaging $26.06.

How much did the energy crisis cost Ohioans? "I don't think we'll ever be able to say what its cost was," says Budget Director William W. Wilkins.

But because of the loss of state income—particularly sales tax money—during the fuel shortage, the state was unable to make up a near $40 million deficit during normally high revenue months.

"I can't say the energy situation cost exactly $40 million," Wilkins says. "I think that's a fair approximation, however."

When he was lieutenant governor, John Brown wanted to turn the old governors' mansion on East Broad Street into a state home for lieutenant governors. He would have alloted areas in the spacious 31-room house to memorabilia of past governors.

"It seemed to be an appropriate way to honor past governors," Brown said while waiting for an auction to start that would sell the house he once lived in for two weeks. "I wanted to have the lieutenant governor's living quarters on the second floor and leave the first floor for state use."

He never got around to offering a bill to the legislature on the idea. Once he left elective office, the mansion seemed a good place for rental offices.

That was why he attended the auction April 11. Bidding started at $100,000 on the house and 2.2 acres of land. Brown made several bids—$102,000; $108,000; $122,000. His last offer was $125,000. Bidding went another $100,000 before there was a buyer.

Brown estimated renovation of the rundown house would cost $350,000 to make it into office space.

"Renting it at $6.60 a square foot, it would take 15 years to amortize it," Brown said. "That $125,000 was past my limit."

The regular meeting of Monday Club was held April 11, at the Pickaway County Historical Museum.

Mrs. E. Miller Hundley, president opened the meeting, and read a letter of appreciation from the daughter of Mrs. A. D. Newmeyer. Mrs. Newmeyer was recently given an honorary membership by the club.

Speaker for the evening was Mrs. William A. Cox, who used as her topic 'Minds in the Making', a paper showing the changes and the lengthy struggle for the education of women traced from ancient times to the present day.

The first rumbles of revolution in the concepts of education for women came from Europe. Mary Artell and Daniel Defoe were advocates of a better educational system. It was not until a half-century later that liberal American philosophers took up the battles. Benjamin Franklin went so far as to urge a university for women.

Misusers Of CB Facing FCC Action As Violations Grow

By JOHN D. McCLAIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Uncle Charlie, as the Federal Communications Commission is known, offers CBers six ways to get his prompt attention.

Acknowledging it does not have the manpower to police all of the abuse on citizens band radio channels, the FCC's Field Operations Bureau is putting its enforcement emphasis on what it considers the worst offenders.

"We have set up six trigger violations to which field inspectors give their priorities," says James C. McKinney, the bureau's deputy chief. They are:

—Failing to use the radio operator's "numbers," or FCC call sign.

—Using linear amplifiers, devices that boost a CB unit's power from the legal four-watt limit to as much as 2,000 watts.

—Transmitting on frequencies other than the 40 allocated for CB use.

—Using indecent, obscene or profane language.

—Using CB frequencies to violate state, local or federal law, such as burglary or kidnaping.

—Working "skip," or transmitting farther than the 150 miles permitted by FCC regulations.

Penalties for all but the indecent language violations could be fines of $500 a day, although McKinney says the actual fine usually is $100.

Using indecent language is a criminal violation subject to a $10,000 fine and a year in jail.

But even with its enforcement program focusing on the "trigger" list, the FCC is unable to rid the CB airwaves of abuse, as any CBer with ears quickly hears.

McKinney acknowledges the enforcement problem and says it often is the first topic brought up at CB forums and meetings he attends. The problem, he says, is manpower.

"This bureau has approximately the same number of people in the field now that it had in 1948," he explains.

ROTARY SPEAKER — Bob Cole, right, introduced Jay Clevenger, left, as the guest speaker at the Thursday meeting of the Circleville Rotary Club. Clevenger is the Superintendent of the Pickaway County Mental Retardation Board, and he gave a slide presentation on how funds were being spent and also on some of the programs at the schools. Rotary Club takes an active part in providing funds for these programs through their annual auction and various other projects.

Firemen Cheer Colleague To $40,000 Lottery Prize

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Fostoria Fire Department was rooting for Joe Clagg Thursday night, and fireman Clagg came through with a $40,000 prize in the Ohio Lottery's Pot O'Gold game.

Firemen said they watched the televised lottery program at the Fostoria firehouse and will be cheering the 33-year-old Clagg on again next week when he comes back with a chance to win up to $250,000 more.

Clagg, who has been a fireman for eight years, said after the drawing his good fortune "still hasn't sunk in," but he expects to go on being a fireman.

He and his wife, Barbara, have one daughter, Angie, 3½.

Four losing tickets were worth $50,000 for a Cincinnati man in the first weekly "losers' drawing" in the Ohio lottery's new Instant II game.

B. Buchert was top winner in the drawing for people sending in four nonwinning $1 tickets from the instant game.

Albert Bogdanski of Richfield won $10,000 in the drawing of instant tickets bearing no winning combinations, and Pam Miles of Warren won $5,000.

Alfred Everett of Sandusky won the top prize of $52,000 in the Double Play game, which is being phased out now that Instant II is rolling. Margaret Slabe of Euclid won the $26,000 second prize, and the third prize of $10,000 went to Carl Krauss of Clyde.

In the Pot O'Gold game, last week's big winner, Alberta Johnson of Columbus, won $9,300 to add to the $135,000 she won in her first try.

Little Guys Fighting Ohio Ag Department

MARSHALLVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Two brothers who run a meat packing business here decided it might be possible for small businessmen to win a legal fight with the state. So far they have won two skirmishes after banding together with others in their business.

John and Terry Tucker are leading the drive to stop Ohio Agriculture Secretary John Stackhouse's attempts to drop the state meat and poultry inspection program and turn it over to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Stackhouse said the move would save the state about $4 million.

But the Tuckers said they didn't want to turn a local program over to the federal government and began drumming up support for their fight among the 647 other state-inspected meat plants in Ohio.

"Right after we heard about Stackhouse's plans—it was just a rumor then—we got a tip that a state law had created the state inspection program," John Tucker said. That would mean Stackhouse could not order the program abandoned. The legislature would have to pass a bill canceling the inspections.

It turns out the tip was right and with support from Rep. John E. Johnson, D-68 Orrville, and the Ohio Association of Meat Processors, they began to look for a legal solution.

"On my own I called many packers and asked each of them for $100 and everyone I called gave," he said.

Now, with legal expenses expected to top $10,000, the Tuckers and other small packers have won a temporary restraining order, a temporary injunction and a scheduled April 28 hearing about making the injunction permanent.

If they win the last battle it would be up to Stackhouse to appeal the rulings of Franklin County Common Pleas Court Judge William Gillie who, so far, has agreed with the packers that it is against the law for the director to abandon the program without legislative action.

Terry Tucker is president of Marshallville Packing. John is vice president. They switch roles in ownership of the Tucker Packing Co. in nearby Orrville.

The brothers say they are taking their lead from President Carter who has espoused a philosophy of local control.

"You know, we're small businessmen and go along and pay our taxes on time and probably pay more than we must because we can't afford specialists to look for loopholes. We also usually just take these things, but it looked like time to fight," John Tucker said.

The Tuckers feel it's been a good fight even if they don't win, although indications are that they will. The USDA already has announced it will not take over the Ohio program and Stackhouse said he will not push for the legislature to abandon its mandate for the program.

All that remains is for the fight to wind its way through the court.

Private Property Week To Be Observed April 17-23

The national observance of Private Property Week, April 17-23, does more than focus attention on home ownership and preservation of property rights according to members of the Pickaway County Board of Realtors.

Sue Spires, board president, said that it is a time also for emphasizing greater home safety vigilance. "Home owners should be aware that their dream of ownership could become a nightmare if they fail to take necessary safety precautions," she said.

Even a chore such as the annual house cleaning has its risks, she said, and suggested a few pointers in connection with house cleaning:

1. If you don't feel up to doing a particular job on a certain day, don't force yourself unnecessarily to accomplish too much. Tackle a simpler chore. Proper mental attitude is important in avoidance of accidents.

2. Make sure your equipment — ladders, vacuum cleaners, floor polishers, etc. — are in good working order and that you understand how to use them safely.

3. Use all household products according to directions on their labels. Always wear rubber gloves when handling strong cleaning products.

4. Since most cleaning products are poisonous, keep them out of the reach of children or pets. Empty containers should be disposed of in places where children cannot pick them up for playthings.

5. Don't toss aerosol cans into incinerators or fires; they can explode and cause serious injury or death.

6. Put oily, dirty or paint-flecked rags in a covered metal container, such as a coffee can, to avoid the possibility of spontaneous combustion.

The Pickaway County Board is one of 1,700 member boards and 50 state associations of the 500,000-member National Association of Realtors joining home owners in the April 17-23 observance of Private Property Week.

Kissinger To Get New Help

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — When the U.S. Secret Service discontinues its protection of former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger next month, three Columbus men will take over the job.

Kissinger has hired two city policemen and a Secret Service agent based here as bodyguards when his government protection runs out May 1.

Agent Walter Bothe, a 12-year veteran of the secret service, will head the private detail. Bothe was Kissinger's bodyguard from 1973 to 1976, according to Robert Foster, agent in charge of the secret service office here.

City police officers William Fairweather, 27, and Dennis Matko, 29, will leave the force Saturday for Washington to undergo additional training before taking their new jobs. Fairweather was a member of the Special Weapons and Tactics (SWAT) team while Matko is a SWAT alternate who works cruiser patrol.

Fairweather called the new position a "spectacular opportunity."

The private security detachment has no affiliation with the government and Kissinger will have to pay the bill, Foster said.

Derby United Methodist Church One Of Earliest In Community

By GEORGIA SWEET
Derby Correspondent

One of the earliest organizations in the Derby community was the Derby United Methodist Church.

It had its origins about 1800 when Thomas Reynolds, a Methodist, and some 200 other early settlers arrived in the area. The first ordained clergyman was reported to be the Rev. Robert Finley, a traveling preacher or circuit rider.

His son, James, became a missionary to the Wyandotte Indians in northern Ohio near Upper Sandusky. James held the first camp meetings along with a converted Wyandotte named 'Between The Logs' who was always accompanied by a Negro companion who translated for him.

The meetings were held on the banks of Darby Creek. Others who followed James Finley were Jacob Young and Isaac McHenry.

Before the first church was built, meetings were held in barns, schools and homes for lack of proper facilities. In 1844 the first church was constructed. Open to all denominations, it was named the Free Will Church.

For some reason the Methodists withdrew from the Free Will Church to reorganize and hold their services in a school near the church.

The second church in the area was named the Renick Church in honor of the donor of the land on which the church was built. The land is now owned by Mrs. Mildred Mouser.

By early 1887 Derby was settled and growing fast. A school was built on the site of the present Minuteman Antique Dealers, serving as both elementary and high school for some years. This was the subject of my recent article on the old Derby School.

It became obvious to members of the Renick Church that this growing settlement was also in need of spiritual guidance so a church was built in 1887 at a cost of $2,000.

Members subscribed for funds and the community obliged by donating money and labor. The ladies served hot meals on the construction site to feed the hungry workers. Needless to say, a lot of devotion went into this labor.

In this fashion it was soon completed and was dedicated in September of 1887.

The original Renick Church was sold and Christian denominations continued to worship there. Years later it was sold again and moved to Grange Hall.

It was still in use by the Church of Christ in Christian Union as late as 1956.

John Linebaugh donated the land for both the first Derby school and the Derby Church. He also gave the land on which the parsonage now stands.

Derby was at that time on the Darbyville circuit and shared a succession of ministers—The Reverends Lemaster, Benzing, Sinff and Patterson. The parsonage was built while Reverend Benzing headed the charge.

When Patterson was appointed, the Big Plain and McKendree churches became part of the Derby-Darbyville circuit. Subsequent pastors were the Reverends Mindlin, Redman, Griffith, Bishop, Morrison, Cooper, Creamer, Harble, Miller, Tull, Kilpatrick, Rose, Scott, Ensley (who later became bishop of the United Methodist Southwestern District of Ohio).

During the stay of the Rev. Redman, a classroom was added to the church.

In the mid 30s the Rev. Harlan was appointed to the Derby Charge and then the Reverend Wright. During the latter's stay a bathroom was added to the church. I recall him donning bib overalls and doing repair work at the parsonage as the need arose.

Then followed the Reverends Scott, Root and Immelt in the 40s, at which time the vestibule was added to the church.

In 1946 the church interior was completely redecorated. Around 1960 the Fellowship Hall was built chiefly through a building fund and a united effort among the church members. This was added to accommodate the church's growing needs and the hundreds who came to attend the dinners and other functions held to raise funds, for wedding receptions and for needed classroom space.

Members of the church are presently preparing to repair and insulate the parsonage.

Following Immelt, the Reverends Weller, Steele, Bretz, Nihizer, Ricketts, Brown, Hill, Weinans, Maurer served. Succeeding Maurer in the pulpit was the Rev. Lillian Wright, the first lady pastor of the charge. She was succeeded by Ken Chapin and most recently by the Rev. Larry Zellers who will soon be leaving.

There has always been provision for youth in the church, beginning with the Epworth League. Later came the Youth Fellowship and recently this expanded to include youth and adults alike to better serve the community.

Through the years many seemingly impossible tasks have been undertaken and through faith, determination and cooperation have succeeded. There is a spirit here which refuses to accept defeat and a feeling that in God's house there can be no failures.

Band Boosters Meet Monday

The Circleville Band Boosters will meet Monday in the high school's band room. The executive meeting will begin at 7 p.m. with the general meeting following at 7:30 p.m.

Plans will be discussed on uniforms. A sample uniform will be presented. Approval will be needed before the order can be written up.

All interested persons are encouraged to attend the meeting.

Church Briefs

The Circleville Bible College Choir will be singing in the 9:30 and the 10:30 a.m. services at the First Church of Christ in Christian Union at 436 East Ohio Street Sunday Morning. The Rev. H. David Cyrus the pastor will bring the message. The evening service is at 7 p.m. The Rev. Mike Holbrook, the assistant pastor, will be speaking and Miss Cathy Workman will be singing.

The new structure of The Church of The Nazarene which consists of a multi-purpose building, nursery facilities, a new suite of offices, several new classrooms, a greatly expanded narthex, and other supportive facilities, will be dedicated this Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. Dr. Terrell C. Sanders, superintendent of the Central Ohio District of The Church of The Nazarene will deliver the dedicatory message. The speaker for the evening service will be the Rev. John Dennis former pastor of the local church.

The Rev. David F. Frazer will be preaching the sermon entitled, "Easter Is Not Over" at Community United Methodist Church Sunday.

"Completing The Record" is the title of Dr. Frank J. Irvine's sermon Sunday at the First Presbyterian Church.

Pastor Carl Zehner has selected the sermon topic, "The Mystery Book", for Sunday at Trinity Lutheran Church.

Miss Elsie Conley will be the missionary speaker at the Williamsport Church of Christ in Christian Union 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. Miss Conley will be returning to New Guinea.

Dr. W. Leonard Stigler, interim pastor of Logan Elm Baptist Church, will preach both services this Sunday. The church is located at the 4-H and Grange Building.

Amazing the miracles that can be wrought with needle and thread!

Provided, of course, the needle and thread are in the right hands.

Tools and materials are never more important than the skills of the craftsman who uses them.

In the realm of the spiritual, God has provided us with many resources. They inspire constructive living, dedicated service, devotion to high ideals.

But what we accomplish in our spiritual quest depends most of all on the skills we acquire through parental example and religious training. The churches of our community are helping us train a new generation to design a better tomorrow — using God's pattern.

Integrated Church Attendance Rises

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Almost half of American white churchgoers now worship with at least some blacks in the congregations, five times more than 25 years ago.

Additionally, a strong majority of whites would like for their congregations to include more blacks.

These are among indications of a new Gallup poll, compared with past studies.

The poll found that 46 per cent of whites attend churches with some black members, while a slight majority, 54 per cent, still are in all-white congregations. A 1952 study indicated that only 9.8 per cent of the nation's mainly white congregations included blacks.

In the new survey, the continuing reduced extent of de facto segregation was attributed to residential patterns, to pride of blacks in preserving their own churches and persisting remnants of prejudice.

Nevertheless, two-thirds of all whites nationally, including both those already worshipping with some blacks and those who don't, want more blacks among coworshippers.

The proportion is highest, North and South, among whites already associated with some blacks in church life, with 80 per cent of such whites outside the South and 63 per cent of such Southern whites favoring more blacks in weekly services.

The only category of whites in which a majority — 60 per cent — oppose it are Southerners in congregations without black members and no experience of worshipping with them. Of these whites, only 40 per cent want black members.

However, of all Southern white church-goers, 53 per cent are amenable to expanding black participation, 46 per cent definitely favoring it and 7 per cent saying it doesn't matter. A minority, 47 per cent, oppose it.

Outside the South, 90 per cent of whites are open to more black membership, including 71 per cent specifically wanting it and 19 per cent who are indifferent about it. Only 10 per cent oppose it.

Even among Northerners worshipping in all-white congregations, 64 per cent would like blacks in the services, and another 8 per cent don't care. Only 28 per cent oppose it.

In Northern congregations already including some blacks, only 9 per cent of whites don't want to increase the proportion of blacks.

While nationally nearly half of white church-goers worship with some blacks, the figure varies regionally. Outside the South, it is 51 per cent. But in the South, it is only 34 per cent.

Sixty-six per cent of Southern whites are in congregations with no black members.

That situation contrasts with the elementary and secondary schools, which have become more fully integrated in the South than the North. But in the Southern churches, de facto segregation still predominates, although the formal barriers generally have been removed.

2 Ministers To Be Ordained

Two local men will be ordained into the ministry 7:30 p.m. today at the Second Baptist Church, 130 W. Mill St. They are the Rev. Gerald Dade, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Dade, 216 E. Mill St., and the Rev. James Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Lewis, 233 E. Mill St.

The Rev. Dade was called into the ministry in October, 1970, and the Rev. Lewis in 1974. Both men graduated from Circleville High School.

Services will be conducted by the National Baptist Ministerial Allegiance and the Second District Ministers. The Rev. H. H. Wingo of Chillicothe will deliver the ordination message.

The Rev. Otis Crowder is pastor of the Second Baptist Church.

Hiram Offers Weekend Plan For Students

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Hiram College is setting up a program that one teacher says is "for people who got hooked by the routines of life"—the weekend college, complete with dorms and sports events.

Under the program which begins in September, students will come to Hiram every other weekend during the school year to earn a bachelor of arts degree majoring in business management, social sciences or humanities and the fine arts.

And they will be able to complete their degree in the same period of time it would take a regular full-time student, officials said Thursday as they announced the program.

Officials said the weekend students will be encouraged to take advantage of campus facilities, including a residence hall and dining service as well as library and athletic facilities. They'll also have a chance to attend concerts, theater productions and art exhibits.

Behind the approach are the beliefs that adult education will grow, that college facilities should benefit the full community and that the number of 18-year-olds for regular admissions is decreasing.

There also is the expectation that adult students will be more alert, more worldly and more highly motivated. They are expected to be more demanding of detail, quality and knowledge for its own sake as well as for its practicality.

"The Hiram Weekend College is not a knee-jerk reaction to get on the adult education bandwagon," President Elmer Jagow said, explaining it was based on a market survey, indepth interview and intensive internal study.

"Evening programs are often unattractive because they conflict with family and employment commitments," Jagow added. He said some take as much as six years to complete and often "lack a critical component—continuous interaction between faculty and students."

Each term will be 11 weeks, and three will make up an academic year.

Officials said credit may be granted for previous college work and personal experience.

On Books And Activities At The Library

We're really looking forward to an exciting week at the Pickaway County District Public Library and we hope you'll plan to join in the festivities. April 17th marks the beginning of National Library Week and to celebrate, our "Friends Of The Library" group will be sponsoring an open-house and tea. The community is invited from 2:30-4:30. This will afford people the opportunity to see the new improvements made in the facility and to inspect our bookmobile unit. Refreshments are being provided by the "Friends."

On Monday at 1:30, we're having a great party for Peter Rabbit's 75th birthday. This is not just for children. An entertaining movie about a 90 year old gardener will be shown and a delightful puppet presentation about Peter and his creator should appeal to all ages. Of course there will be a birthday cake.

There wil be free bookmarks for visitors all during Library Week so stop by for the fun and while you're here, check the shelves for new titles. We'll be putting out lots of new titles all week.

Robert Ludlum is becoming a well-known name in the field of exciting fiction. "The Chancellor Manuscript" is the latest work and again he has written a novel with a furious pace, compelling action, and ingenious plotting. His fans will enjoy this book about power and fear that might not be fiction at all!

"Raw Silk" by Janet Burroway has received plaudits from many reviewers. It's a well-written story-taut, witty, and marvelously attentive to the inmost currents of human behavior.

For those who like their fiction in large doses and with lots of meat, Elsa Morante has written "History A Novel." It's an immense novel about the unhistoric people who serve as the raw material for the "great" events that are History.

"A Place To Come To" by Robert P. Warren is a powerful novel about many strong characters and their intricate relationships with each other. It should appeal to readers who enjoy good character development in their stories. Garson Kanin covers a century of the American theater in his novel "One Hell Of An Actor." By combining myth, biography, fact and invention, he has woven a unique and compelling story.

"The Shad Treatment" by Garrett Epps is a vivid chronicle of politics in the new South. It's also the story of a family's destructive obsession with power.

Leona Morrison's first novel, "Island Of Eden" takes us inside the board-rooms and private rooms of people in pursuit of the almighty buck for a glittering look at a last resort for the international rich.

"A Woman Like That" by Susan Shreve explores a wide range of emotions and complex relationships. Emily Fielding's story is as delicate and strong as a spider web.

For gothic readers, "Abbeygate" by Cecily Crowe is an unusual, gripping modern gothic with a colorful setting and delightful characters.

"Buffalo Woman" by Dorothy Johnson is made to order for readers who like Indian stories. Well-researched, it is the warm story of one woman who earned love and honor among her tribesmen.

If you enjoyed Tolkien, you'd probably be interested in "The Sword Of Shannara" by Terry Brooks. It's a truly believable wonder-story of epic fantasy.

"Breakaway" by Louise Cooper is a delightful social comedy about Hattie. Hattie is a quiet, uninvolved widow who, to her own surprise, finds herself exploding out.

Star Trek fans will be pleased to see "The Star Trek Reader II" by James Blish.

There are plenty of choices in all areas this week. The biggest problem will be making a decision. Lots of non-fiction has arrived too. Why not try the Pickaway County Public Library for entertainment during National Library Week?

Plans Set For K Of P Dinner

Final preparations for the family carry-in dinner at Philos Lodge 64, Knights of Pythias, have been completed, according to Chancellor Commander Paul Reed.

Festivities will begin 7 p.m. Monday and the meeting is open to all members and their families.

Persons planning to attend should bring a covered dish and table service. The Lodge will furnish meat and beverage.

One 50-year and 14 25-year pins will be awarded by Frank Woodward Jr., Supreme Representative, and Milo M. Wise, Grand Lodge Officer.

Members of the food committee are James Denman, Ralph DeLong, and John Reed.

Following the dinner and awards ceremony, entertainment will be provided by the committee consisting of Ray Beery, Doyle Spangler, Clarence Radcliffe, and James Denman.

Willie's Dillies

By BILL McGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

This Saturday just happens to be another one of my favorite sport events of the season and anyone who misses it just don't know what they are missing — That's right — It's the 8th annual Circleville Kiwanis Relays.

First of all — You will see one of the finest high school track facilities in the state when you get a look at the all-weather facilities at Circleville.

Second — As always it will be excitement on the move as the field events and running events take place. Coming in to participate this year will be: Adena, Bloom Carroll, Miami Trace, Wilmington, Greenfield, Washington C.H., Hillsboro, Waverly, Southeastern, Fairfield Union, Unioto and Lakewood.

This is not only one of the top meets of the year but has to be one of the best run events you will attend. Head coach Jim Lint and Jim Diltz have things in "apple pie order" and ready to go.

The setting will be immaculate and the events will run as smooth as hand lotion on chapped skin.

The personable Lint attracts help like a well proportioned girl in a bikini and he always has people working all angles. It would be impossible to name them all so as always they remain "and others."

It will start at noon and it is sure a fine time to take the kids, pick out a good seat in the stands and just relax and enjoy yourself.

The Circleville Athletic Booster Club will have its refreshment booth going full blast by noon so there will be plenty to eat and drink.

You'll see a lot of your friends there and have a chance to "fib" to each other about what great track stars you were when you were in high school.

I'm going because I like to see the young athletes in action, "chew the fat" with a lot of people—And especially because I know a certain athletic director who I can always "con" into buying the chow.

Our "fearless" forecast — The Tigers will once again capture the Kiwanis Relays.

Until next time, have a nice day-be a good sport.

Lint's Legions Lace Hillsboro Tracksters

Coach Jim Lint decided to vary his lineup Thursday as he sent his Tigers against visiting Hillsboro and the Red and Black turned in a 96-35 victory.

Here are the results of the meet: Shot — Gross (H), Price (C), Albright (C). 46 feet 1½ inches.

Discus — Mogan (C), Albright (C), Heffelfinger (C). 133 feet 8 inches.

Long Jump — Ames (H), Merrill and Phillips (C) tie. 18 feet 10 inches.

High Jump — Marshall (C), Shran (H), Harrison (C). 5 feet 10 inches.

Pole Vault — Moorehead (C), Gates (C), Stout (C). 11 feet 9 inches.

120 HH — Everhart (H), Marshall (C), Gates (C). 17.9.

100-Yard — Phillips (C), Stevenson (C), Brudzinski (C). 10.6.

Mile — Merrill (C), Gilliland (H), Baker (C). 4:48.6.

880 Relay — Hillsboro, Circleville. 1:39.0.

440 — Rhoades (C), Berrigan (C), Boris (H). 54.8.

180 LH — Gates (C), Marshall (C), Butler (H). 23.0.

Ohio Wildlife Council Approves Hunting, Trapping Regulations

The Ohio Wildlife Council Thursday (4-7) approved 1977-1978 hunting and trapping season dates and additional new regulations proposed by the Division of Wildlife of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources.

Public testimony presented at the state and district wildlife hearings was considered before the regulations were adopted, according to Dale Haney, Chief of the Division of Wildlife.

The 1977-1978 hunting and trapping dates are:

Cottontail Rabbit - November 15, 1977 through January 28, 1978. Hunting hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. with a daily bag limit of four and possession limit of eight after the first day.

Bobwhite Quail - November 15, 1977 through December 31, 1977. Hunting hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. with a daily bag limit of six and possession limit of 12 after the first day.

Ring-Necked Pheasant Cock and Chukar Partridge - November 15 through December 10, 1977 on private land and November 15 through January 28, 1978 on state public hunting areas. Hunting hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. with a daily bag limit of two pheasant and two chukar and a possession limit of four each after the first day. The season for the hen pheasant zone where either cocks or hens may be taken is November 15, 1977 through January 28, 1978. Hunting hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. with a daily bag limit of two and a possession limit of four after the first day. Additional areas where either pheasant hen or cocks may be taken include Auburn Marsh, Beach City Reservoir, Berlin Reservoir, Bolivar, Dillon Reservoir, Fallsville, Grand River, Hambden Orchard, Highlandtown, Indian Creek, Pleasant Valley, Rush Run, Salt Fork, Shreve, Spencer, Spring Valley, Wellington, West Branch Reservoir, and Zepernick public hunting areas.

There is no open season for Hungarian Partridge.

Squirrel - September 9 through November 12, 1977 on private land and September 9 through December 24, 1977 on state public hunting areas. Hunting hours are ½ hour before sunrise to ½ hour after sunset, with a daily bag limit of four and a possession limit of eight after the first day.

The season will open September 23 and continue through December 24, 1977 at the Waterloo Wildlife Area in Athens County.

Ruffed Grouse - October 7, 1977 through February 25, 1978. Hunting hours are ½ hour before sunrise to ½ hour after sunset, with a daily bag limit of three and possession limit of six after the first day.

Bearded Wild Turkey - A continuous season May 1 through May 13, 1978. Hunting is permitted in Adams, Athens, Carroll, Gallia, Guernsey, Hocking, Holmes, Jackson, Jefferson, Lawrence, Meigs, Monroe, Perry, Pike, Ross, Scioto, Vinton and Washington counties. Hunting hours will be ½ hour before sunrise to noon. Limit one turkey per season.

Raccoon Hunting Season - Opening 6 p.m. November 1, 1977 through January 28, 1978. Hunting hours are 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. Nightly bag limit for raccoon is four. No possession limit.

Raccoon, Mink and Muskrat Trapping Season - November 15, 1977 through February 18, 1978. The trapping season is extended through March 15, 1978 in Ottawa, Sandusky, and Erie counties and in Lucas County, east of the Maumee River. No restrictions on hours, daily bag limits or possession limits.

Beaver Trapping - January 14 through 6 p.m. February 18, 1978 on private land in Ashtabula, Athens, Belmont, Carroll, Columbiana, Coshocton, Gallia, Geauga, Guernsey, Harrison, Hocking, Holmes, Jackson, Jefferson, Lake, Mahoning, Meigs, Monroe, Morgan, Muskingum, Noble, Perry, Portage, Stark, Summit, Trumbull, Tuscarawas, Vinton, Washington and Wayne Counties. Each trapper is permitted to use only three traps and the limit is four beaver per season.

Fox, Opossum, Skunk, and Weasel Hunting - October 21, 1977 through February 15, 1978. There is no bag or possession limit.

Fox Trapping - October 21, 1977 through January 1, 1978. No bag or possession limit.

Oppossum, Skunk and Weasel Trapping Season - October 21, 1977 through February 18, 1978. No bag or possession limit.

Woodchuck Hunting - The season is open statewide all year with no restrictions on hours, daily bag limits or possession limits, except that it is closed during the deer gun season.

Woodchucks may be hunted statewide with crossbows, having a working safety and a one piece stock that is at least 25 inches long, except during the longbow archery and gun season for deer.

Crow Season - January 7 through February 25, 1978 and June 10 through August 22, 1978. Hunting hours will be ½ hour before sunrise to sunset. No daily bag or possession limit.

Deer Seasons - The limit is one deer per season:

Longbow - Open statewide except Kelleys Island October 7, 1977 through January 21, 1978.

Crossbow - Open statewide except Kelleys Island December 31, 1977 through January 21, 1978.

The crossbow and longbow hunting hours are ½ hour before sunrise to ½ hour after sunset. The crossbow and longbow seasons will be closed in Zones 1, 3 and 4 during the deer gun season.

Primitive Weapons Season - October 31 through November 5, 1977 at Wildcat Hollow which includes Wolf Creek Wildlife Area and vicinity in Athens, Morgan and Perry counties, Salt Fork Wildlife Area in Guernsey County and Shawnee State Forest in Scioto and Adams counties. Legal weapons are a single shot muzzleloading rifle of at least .38 caliber, a muzzleloading shotgun using a single ball or longbow and arrow. Hunting hours are 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. Only bucks may be taken during the primitive weapons season.

Gun - Hunting hours are 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. Legal weapons are a shotgun using a single ball or rifled slug and single-shot muzzleloading rifle of at least .38 caliber.

The state will be divided into four deer gun zones as follows:

Zone One - November 28, 1977 through December 2, 1977 for buck only. (5 inch antler minimum) Zone one shall include Defiance, Fulton, Henry, Lucas, Paulding, Putnam, Allen, Hancock, Champaign, Seneca, Crawford, Williams, Wyandot, Morrow, Delaware, Marion, Union, Logan, Hardin, Van Wert, Mercer, Auglaize, Medina, Cuyahoga, Lorain, Erie, Ottawa, Sandusky and Wood counties.

Zone Two - No gun season. Zone two shall include Hamilton, Butler, Preble, Darke, Shelby, Miami, Montgomery, Warren, Clinton, Greene, Clark, Madison, Franklin, Pickaway and Fayette counties.

Zone Three - November 28, 1977 through December 2, 1977 for buck only. (5 inch antler minimum) Zone three shall include Stark, Summit, Portage, Geauga, Lake, Ashtabula, Trumbull and Mahoning counties.

Zone Four - November 28, 1977 through December 3, 1977 for buck only. (5 inch antler minimum) Zone four shall include Coshocton, Muskingum, Guernsey, Belmont, Perry, Morgan, Noble, Monroe, Hocking, Athens, Washington, Ross, Vinton, Meigs, Pike, Jackson, Gallia, Scioto, Larrence, Richland, Huron, Wayne and Ashland counties.

Anterless permits will again be available during the 1977 deer season in selected counties.

Hunting of all wild animals during the daytime, except deer and waterfowl, is prohibited during the deer gun season and during the primitive weapons season at the three special primitive weapons areas.

Young Hunters Season - November 5 and November 12, 1977 for the young hunters special upland game season. The special hunts will be conducted at Delaware, Grand River, Resthaven, Spencer and Caesars Creek Wildlife Areas. Legal game includes all game currently in season, plus all game that will be legal during the regular upland game season. Hunting hours, daily bag limits and possession limits are the same as during the regular upland game season. Participants must be between 10 and 15 years of age and have successfully completed a hunter safety course.

In addition the Wildlife Council approved regulations which:

— will permit persons after receiving a daily permit from the Chief of the Division of Wildlife or his representative to ride a horse on public hunting areas in conjunction with training of dogs that are commonly identified as hunting dogs.

— beaver carcasses legally acquired may be bought and sold at any time.

— Mary Jane Thurston State Park was added to the list of state owned or administered lands designated as public hunting areas.

— a portion north of the North Shore Drive at Rocky Fork State Park will now be open to hunting.

— trapping will now be permitted at Portage Lake State Park.

— the state property adjoining Shawnee State Forest will be open to the primitive weapons hunt.

Prime Time To Observe Waterfowl

With unseasonably warm weather ducks and geese will be heading for Canada in large numbers. Now is a good time to observe many different varieties of waterfowl along rivers and streams, and on lakes and ponds as well as in the air.

Ducks normally concentrate during their spring flights to their northern breeding grounds, but with early hot weather the late breeders that would enjoy the southern climate another week or two are rousted along with the normal flights and even the peripheral flyways through Ohio began to look like major duck routes.

Take a pair of binoculars and a field guide to the birds to one of the major reservoirs in Central Ohio (Delaware, Deer Creek or Hoover) and enjoy the preening and mating displays of the various species of waterfowl.

The woodduck, Ohio's major nesting duck is of particular interest and prefers a little more solitude and is found along quiet streams and isolated ponds. It is very colorful but a little more difficult to find. A float trip down any river or large stream should bring up a few woodies from now through June.

Wild Turkey Hunting

A record number of Ohio's growing corps of wild turkey hunting enthusiasts are expected to take to the hills of Southeastern Ohio for the 12-day 1977 season May 2 through May 14, according to the Division of Wildlife of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources.

"The story of the successful return of the wild turkey in Ohio is an accomplishment sportsmen can point to with pride," said Dale Haney, Chief of the Wildlife Division.

Haney noted that since wild turkeys were successfully reintroduced in Ohio in the late 1950's, the range of this wiley game species through a professional program has expanded to 20 counties.

Hunting for turkeys is permitted in 14 of the 20 counties. Those are: Athens, Adams, Gallia, Hocking, Jackson, Lawrence, Meigs, Monroe, Perry, Pike, Ross, Scioto, Vinton and Washington.

A number of applications for the 1977 season remain available. They may be obtained from the Division of Wildlife, Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Fountain Square, Columbus 43224 and at all District Wildlife Offices.

The applications must be sent by mail and must be accompanied by a check or money order for $10.50 made payable to the Division of Wildlife.

A valid Ohio hunting and trapping license is required in addition to the turkey hunting permit.

The daily hunting period for turkeys is one-half hour before sunrise to noon. The bag limit is one turkey per season.

Hunters bagging a turkey must bring it to an official checking station for tagging by 2 p.m. the same day the turkey is taken. A brochure listing checking stations is included with each permit issued.

Addresses for the District Wildlife Offices are: District One, 1500 Dublin Road, Columbus 43215; District Two, 952 Lima Avenue, Findlay 45840; District Three, 912 Portage Lakes Drive, Akron 44319; District Four, 360 East State Street, Athens 45701, and District Five, 1076 Old Springfield Pike, Bos 576, Xenia 45385.

Pistons Stage Great Collapse

DETROIT (AP) — It had to be one of the biggest collapses in National Basketball Association playoff history. The Detroit Pistons trailed by two points, 69-67, three minutes into the second half and lost by 30 Thursday night, 138-108, to the Golden State Warriors.

There is no room, now, for either team to collapse. Their best-of-three opening-round playoff series is tied 1-1. The teams meet in Oakland Sunday to determine who advances to the quarter-finals against Los Angeles.

"We simply got outplayed, that's all there was to it," said Pistons Coach Herb Brown. "We looked like rank amateurs. That's it. I'm too hoarse to talk."

He may have been understating the case.

"Yeh, I was embarrassed," admitted Detroit center Bob Lanier.

Phil Smith and Rick Barry teamed for 63 points, pacing the Warriors' triumph, before a sellout Cobo Arena crowd of 11,220. Barry scored 28 points and Smith had 28 of his 35 in the first half.

Last year, Smith averaged 31 points against the Pistons and 29.5 against them in the playoffs.

"We didn't go to anyone special. We try to think we're flexible enough to run our stuff to anybody," said Golden State Coach Al Attles. "Smith was going good and Rick hit well and we got the ball to them when they were going hot."

The Warriors, who led only 63-59 at halftime, outscored the Pistons 26-10 in a seven-minute span midway through the third quarter to pull away. Barry, Smith and Cliff Ray each scored six points in the spurt.

Ray scored 16 points, hitting all eight of his shots, including several slam dunks. Rookie Robert Parish came off the bench and scored 20.

Eric Money topped the Pistons with 31 points, while Lanier scored 23 and Chris Ford 22. Lanier, who returned from a 15-game absence a week ago after recovering from a broken right hand, grabbed 18 rebounds.

Earl Strom, one of the two NBA officials who aren't on strike, handled the game along with Dick Schaper — a referee from the semi-pro Eastern League.

Cobo Arena was picketed by four striking officials — Don Murphy, Paul Mihalic, Jim Capers and Mike Mathis. They carried signs reading, "NBA unfair to referees."

Regarding the officials, Attles said: "I told our players it was up to us to control our tempers and keep the fans off of us. You'll notice I yelled at the vet, not the rookie."

There are three NBA playoff games tonight, with all the home teams looking to even the best-of-three series at 1-1. A loss by any home team means elimination.

The Cleveland Cavaliers entertain the Washington Bullets, the San Antonio Spurs are home to the Boston Celtics, and the Chicago Bulls entertain the Portland Trail Blazers.

Milwaukee Weather Agrees With Slaton

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The weather in Milwaukee was just what the doctor ordered for Jim Slaton.

"In warmer weather, I might not have lasted as long," said the Milwaukee Brewer pitcher.

Slaton was making his first start of the season Thursday after a long siege with the flu and with the help of 46-degree temperatures, breezed through nine no-sweat innings and handcuffed the Baltimore Orioles 5-0 on three hits.

"I would have sweated a lot more if it was warmer and it would have drained a lot more out of me," noted Slaton, who had lost six pounds during his illness and recovery.

He hadn't pitched since April 4.

In other American League action, the Toronto Blue Jays beat the Detroit Tigers 5-3; the Seattle Mariners nipped the Minnesota Twins 4-3 and the Oakland A's edged the California Angels 8-7. The TexasCleveland game was postponed by rain.

The Brewers took a 2-0 lead with two fifth-inning runs off loser Rudy May, 0-2. Don Money singled and took third on a double by Dan Thomas. Money scored on a single by Von Joshua and Thomas raced home when Larry Harlow bobbled the ball for an error in short center.

The Brewers made it 4-0 with a pair of unearned runs in the sixth and a single by Cecil Cooper and double by Sal Bando produced their final run in the eighth.

Blue Jays 5, Tigers 3

Pinch-hitter Otto Velez' three-run homer in the eighth inning vaulted surprising Toronto over Detroit.

With one out in the eighth, reliever John Hiller, 0-2, walked Doug Ault and Ron Fairly. Velez, batting for Sam Ewing, then hit a 2-1 pitch over the left field fence to give the expansion Blue Jays their fifth triumph in seven games and provide rookie Jerry Garvin with his second victory in two starts. Garvin gave up six hits, struck out 10 and walked two.

Mariners 4, Twins 3

Right-hander Gary Wheelock limited Minnesota to four hits in eight innings and center fielder Ruppert Jones drilled a two-run homer to lead Seattle over the Twins.

Jones' third homer of the season off right-hander Pete Redfern in the eighth sent the Twins' starter to the showers and gave the Mariners a 4-1 lead and their eventual winning run.

A's 8, Angels 7

Larry Lintz scored from second base in the ninth inning on an error by shortstop Bobby Grich to give Oakland its victory over California.

Lintz led off the ninth by drawing a walk off loser John Verhoeven, 0-2, and moved to second on a sacrifice by Matt Alexander. Mitchell Page was intentionally walked and Dick Allen then flied to deep center. Lintz went to third after the catch and scored when the relay throw got away from Grich in short center field.

Mustangs Drop Tilt To Unioto

Westfall couldn't hold the Unioto squad in check in the late innings as the Mustangs dropped a 13-2 decision to the Shermans Thursday on the winner's diamond.

The Mustangs scored single runs in the top of the fourth and seventh innings but Unioto countered with a single run in the bottom of the third, five big ones in the fourth, four more in the fifth and capped the scoring with three tallies in the sixth.

Tony Simon and Mark Henson shared the hill for Westfall. They gave up a total of 10 hits, five walks and fanned five.

Dailey and Rinehart handled the mound chores for Unioto. They allowed a total of eight hits, four walks and whiffed five.

Rick Stillings led the Mustangs with a triple and single, Dave Clem, Randy Adams and Neil Keller all slammed a double while Carey Puckett, Tony Simon and Ted Everman each had a single.

Westfall scored a run in the fourth on a double by Adams and a triple by Stillings and picked up its other run on a single by Everman and a double by Clem.

Westfall is now 0-3 for the season, 0-1 in the Scioto Valley Conference and will host Piketon 4:30 p.m. today.

Greatest WHA Upset Directed At Stingers

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — "We're on the verge of the greatest upset in the history of the World Hockey Association, says Indianapolis Racers Coach Jacques Demers.

The Racers took a 3-0 lead in their best-of-seven, quarter-finals series with a 5-3 victory over the Cincinnati Stingers Thursday night, but the merits of Demers statement won't be decided until Saturday night and game No. 4 here.

If the Racers lose, something they haven't done against Cincinnati here all season, the teams will return to Cincinnati for the fifth contest on Sunday.

Vikings Lose Extra Inning Tilt, 10-7

Teays Valley suffered a 10-7 loss at the hands of Grandview Thursday in an eight inning game on the Vikings' diamond.

The Vikings tallied four times in the bottom of the second, added two more in the third and plated a single marker in the fifth.

Grandview battled back with one run in the top of the third, two in the fourth, three in the fifth and tied the game with a single tally in the seventh. In the top of the eighth inning they erupted for three runs to gain the win.

Eric Graves went all the way for the Vikings as he allowed eight hits, three walks and struck out five.

Reiterman handled the mound duties for Grandview as he gave up eight hits, walked seven and whiffed 10.

John Sanders blasted a homer for the Vikings, Brett Hastings rapped two singles while Duane Keller, Greg Prince, Lance Roese, Gary Van Pelt and Ernie Fielder each rapped a single.

Teays Valley is not 2-5, 1-2 in the Metropolitan League, and will be at Wehrle 11 a.m. Saturday.

Eldon Miller Bats .500 In Recruit Race

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It's three down and three to go for Coach Eldon Miller of Ohio State in the annual high school basketball recruiting race.

Marquis Miller, a 6-foot-6 guard-forward, and 5-9 playmaker Todd Penn signed national letters-of-intent Thursday with the Buckeyes.

The pair's signing brings to three the number of current high school recruits that have picked Ohio State. The first to commit to the Buckeyes was 6-9 forward James Smith of Cleveland, another first team All-Ohioan.

Ohio State has three more basketball scholarships to offer. The Buckeyes covet 6-11 center Herb Williams of Columbus, 6-2 Carter Scott of Barberton, Ohio, 6-4 Ken Page of New York City, 6-10 Trenton Nash of trenton, Mich., and 6-5 Vincent Brookins of Cleveland.

Cardinal Youth Steals Show

NEW YORK (AP) — It was Senior Citizens Day at Shea Stadium but the St. Louis Cardinals' Kiddie Korps stole the show.

"St. Louis might be the darkhorses," said New York Manager Joe Frazier after the highflying, young Cardinals disposed of the Mets 4-1 Thursday and boosted their record to 5-1, all on the road.

After winning three games in Pittsburgh, the Cards were shut out by the Mets' Tom Seaver Tuesday, but bounced back with a pair of victories. The hungry Redbirds are beginning to make believers of preseason experts who consigned them to fourth place in the National League East.

"Pittsburgh and New York are strong enough clubs to make or break you," said 37-year-old left fielder Lou Brock, the club's elder statesman, "and usually they break you more than make you."

Brock is caught up in the club's early-season spirit of success, but it doesn't surprise him.

"I got that feeling the last six weeks of last season," he said. "This club was 80 per cent young, inexperienced players who were just happy to be in the major leagues and were awed by the opposition. But the last six weeks they adopted the attitude that they would stand up and fight and not be denied. What you see now are guys determined to prove they're big league ballplayers."

The young lions include first baseman Keith Hernandez, 23; shortstop Garry Templeton, 22; right fielder Hector Cruz, 24; and rookie relievers John Urrea, 22, and Johnny Sutton, 24. Templeton and Hernandez each drove in a run Thursday while newcomer Tony Scott, who has less than two years of service in the majors, slammed a tworun triple while filling in for center fielder Bake McBride.

When the Mets nicked winner Bob Forsch for a run in the seventh, Urrea came on and struck out Felix Millan, annually one of baseball's toughest hitters to fan. That ended the threat and Urrea allowed one hit over the last two innings to record his second save in as many big league appearances.

In the only other National League game Thursday, the San Francisco Giants outscored the San Padres 8-4 as Jim Barr pitched a seven-hitter and Bill Madlock and Willie McCovey belted two-run homers.

Madlock also had an RBI single to go along with his second homer in two games as the Giants took the series from the Padres 2-1. Barr evened his record at 1-1 with the victory, striking out a career-high 11 men and walking two.

Jerry Turner and pinch-hitter Merv Rettenmund hit solo homers for the Padres while Gary Thomasson, Darrell Evans and Madlock all collected two hits to pace the Giants' 12-hit attack.

Justus Hurls 1-Hit Game For Braves

Tim Justus pitched 6 1-3 innings of hitless baseball Thursday for Logan Elm, giving up a lone single in the top of the seventh as the Braves defeated Amanda-Clearcreek, 4-1, in Mid State League action.

In his first full game of the season, Justus struck out 12, walked five. The only hit he allowed was by Frye. It came with Thompson on third base to account for the Aces' only run.

Cloyce Hartley went all the way for the Aces, fanning six, walking five and giving up five hits, all singles.

The Braves collected three runs in the first inning. Jerry Scanlan led off with a walk and then went all the way to third on an attempted pickoff. Randy Pontius walked and Scanlan scored on a double steal that saw Pontius thrown out at second. Then Lynn Strehle walked, stole second and scored on Tony Crist's single. Crist went to second on the throw to home plate and scored on a single by Tim Fouch. In the fifth, Scanlan singled, stole second and scored on a single by Pontius.

Saturday Logan Elm hosts Logan in a doubleheader with the first game to start at 1 p.m. The next league game will be at Fisher Catholic Monday.

The Braves have an 8-1 overall record and are 4-0 in the league.

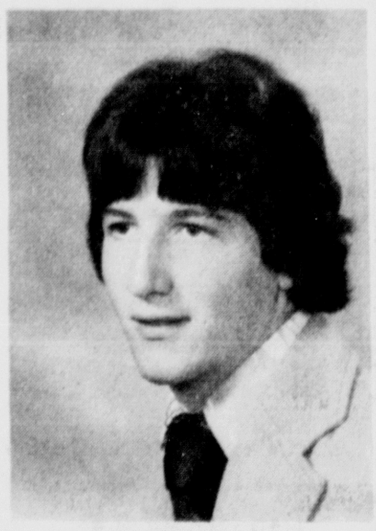
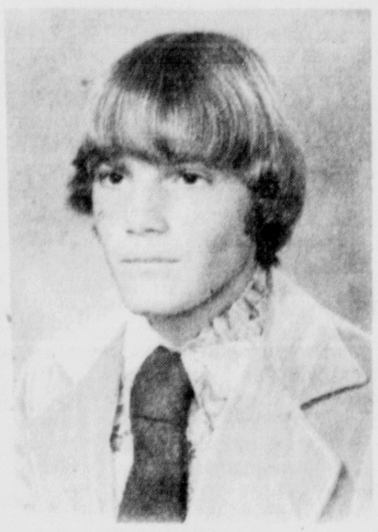
Baseball Team Prepared For Season



BRAD ALLISON



BRIAN FATH

By DEB BUTLER
And DEBI GENTZEL

The 1977 baseball team has chosen Brad Allison and Brian Fath as the captains for the season.

Brad has been playing baseball for three years. This year Brad will be playing catcher and pitcher.

"I think the team is more prepared this year than last year at this time," stated Brad. "The league is pretty tough, but, if our pitching comes around, we should be a contender to repeat as league champs."

Brian has also been playing baseball for three years. The veteran has played second and third base, short stop, pitcher, and center field throughout his years.

"I really hope everybody comes out and supports our team," he commented. "We have been working really hard and hope for a winning season."

Only Senior Is Captain Of Tennis

MARC ROGOLS

By BRETT ALLEN

Marc Rogols is this year's tennis team captain. Marc was nominated as captain by Coach Dan Campbell.

Marc, the only senior on the team, has played tennis all three years of high school and has been playing for nine years.

Marc plays first doubles and sometimes singles. He said he enjoys playing tennis, and playing the sousaphone and the bass guitar.

Marc believes that the team will be successful this year even though they are inexperienced. The Tigers will be playing tonight in a match at Wilmington.

H.E. Teacher Places In Competition

By DEB BUTLER

Miss Nancy Shelton, home economics teacher at CHS, received fourth place for her curriculum project in the Senior High Division from the International Paper Foundation.

Miss Shelton attended the awards program in Houston, Texas, on March 20. She presented her project, which was a two-week unit teaching economic principles in buying food.

The home economics teacher said she found the program rewarding because she was able to learn from and incorporate all the other winners' projects.

Miss Shelton, who is from Londonderry, has been teaching at CHS for four years.

Guidance Guidelines

The Ohio State University is sponsoring a veterinary medicine day tomorrow, from 9 a.m. - noon. Interested persons should report to the Veterinary Hospital, 1935 Coffey Road.

Drama II Class Prepares Set

By JOEL BAKER

Much work is required behind the scenes for next weekend's Senior Class Play, "Web of Murder."

The set crew, consisting of Neal Handler's Drama II class, has spent 60 hours preparing the set for the play. The living room scene walls were developed by stretching muslin over a 6 x 12 foot frame of wood. Furniture was brought in from various sources.

The cost of materials for the set was paid from the Senior Class treasury. All profits from the play are returned to the treasury. Materials are recycled each year to help keep costs down.

In addition to the set crew, a makeup crew, lighting crew, sound and special effects crew, ticket committee, poster and program committee, and usherettes help make the play a success.

Trial Set For Deaf-Mute Case

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — A Ross County Common Pleas Court judge ruled Thursday that the aggravated burglary trial of a 25-year-old deaf-mute, who was acquitted last year of murder charges, will be held in that county despite defense attempts to have it moved.

Judge J. Donald Ratcliff denied the request of James Robert Hunt's attorneys who claimed an impartial jury could not be chosen in that county. But Judge Ratcliff did not rule out future hearings on the venue issue.

EPA Calls For Monitoring System

CINCINNATI (AP) — An official for the U.S. Enviromental Protection Agency has called for an acceleration on the development of an effective monitoring system for chemicals dumped into the Ohio River.

"Tracking these things is half art, half science," said Dr. Andrew Breidenbach, assistant EPA administrator for water and hazardous materials.

Breidenbach told a congressional subcommittee here Wednesday that tracking such chemical deposits was "sometimes terribly elusive.

"The task definitely is not an exact science," he said.

During a day-long hearing, Reps. Thomas Luken, D-Ohio, and Douglas Walgren, D-Pa., sought some specific answers for the spills of carbon tetrachloride into the Ohio River.

Luken noted in his opening remarks that the Ohio River was the source of drinking water for 1.8 million citizens in more than six states.

The testimony Wednesday focused particularly on the 70-ton slug of carbon tetrachloride that made its way down the Ohio River last February.

"The recent carbon tetrachloride discharge and the subsequent EPA findings suggest that the citizens of cities along the Ohio River may have been exposed to unhealthy levels of a toxic chemical," Luken said.

Breidenbach noted that it was only after the 70-ton spill that it learned that the FMC Corp. had reported to the state of West Virginia 20 other carbon spills during the past two years.

The corporation had entered a consent order that called for a halt to further spills of carbon tetrachloride.

Breidenbach revealed to the subcommittee on oversight and investigations that on April 11 the EPA informed the company that it might file a motion to show cause why FMC should not be held in contempt of court. The federal agency claimed that self-monitoring data from FMC had shown that they might be in violation of the consent order.

FMC alleged that its selfmonitoring data was unrepresentative because the plastic bottles used to collect and store samples were contaminated.

FMC vice pesident Raymond Tower and other company officials noted that limitations on legal discharges did not include carbon tetrachloride and were far below the actual amount discharged daily by FMC.

Tower said the daily discharge level could have been between 2,000-4,000 pounds per day for the past two years.

He denied that any spills had occurred other than those reported to West Virginia.

He also took exception to the claims that the 70-ton spill of carbon tetrachloride would definitely cause adverse health effects.

"We aren't trying to say that carbon tetrachloride is a harmless chemical," Tower said. "Everything we know indicates that the levels recorded in the river, even at the peak, produced no long or short term health danger to the public."

Testimony from the hearing will be sent to the subcommittee on health and environment.

'McCloud' Stretches Viewer Credibility

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "McCloud" often stretches credulity, and this Sunday's show is one that Dennis Weaver says was a chore to make believable.

Sam McCloud, the maverick marshal from Taos, N.M., is on the trail of a vampire in New York City, which may be the only thing that hasn't plagued the Big Apple.

This Sunday's "McCloud," the last original show of the season, will be seen on NBC at 9:30 p.m. EST. It follows "Lanigan's Rabbi," seen at 8 p.m. EST, in a double feature "NBC Mystery Movie."

"I'm not entirely sure it's believable, but we've got a lot of humor in it," said Weaver, completing his seventh year as McCloud.

"One thing helped. It's a story about an old actor who's played Dracula for so long that he's become convinced he's really a vampire. We got an actor who actually played Dracula 30 years ago, John Carradine. We used old film clips and stills and I think that lends it some authenticity."

You can be sure that McCloud will bring it off with his usual audacity. He's a rule-breaker, a fish out of water, a Western marshal implausibly in New York City, a man who prefers direct action. It is a good character, well played by Weaver, and the tongue-in-cheek approach serves it well and has kept the show appealing over the years.

J. D. Cannon, who does a beautiful job of blowing his fuse as Chief Clifford, is his nemesis. Terry Carter as the longsuffering Sgt. Broadhurst is the man in middle, who often finds himself McCloud's unwilling coconspirator.

"I'm very comfortable with McCloud," said Weaver. "It's like an old houseslipper. It's one of the most enjoyable roles I've ever been associated with."

Airlines To Make Room For Disabled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airlines no longer will be allowed to deny seats to handicapped persons by arguing they might get in the way during an evacuation, the Federal Aviation Administration says.

The agency also says all crew members must be trained in the evacuation of handicapped persons and must instruct the handicapped on emergency procedures before each flight.

The FAA ruling, which goes into effect May 16, is based on an extensive study that showed "the potential for handicapped passengers delaying evacuation would appear minimal."

The FAA decided not to require the disabled to have their canes or crutches nearby. It said tests showed that these devices got in the way and "handicapped persons reached the exit with remarkable speed using only seatbacks for support."

The FAA is instructing each airline to establish its own procedures for carrying handicapped passengers. But it issued a lengthy set of its own suggestions and said it would review each airline's procedures.

The new regulations are more flexible than a tentative 1974 proposal that would have regulated all transportation of handicapped persons by air.

There are no such regulations now, but the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 permits airlines to deny passage to anyone whose presence might be considered "inimical" to flight safety.

Airlines have used this provision rarely in recent years but have occasionally refused to sell tickets to people who can't walk.

The new rules, issued last week, prohibit a carrier from denying a seat to any handicapped person who meets reasonable requirements.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It looked like Tuxedo Junction. Several hundred men in boiled shirts and ladies in evening gowns were on Stage 4 at station KTTV, right off Fernwood Avenue in Hollywood.

When this many guys appear in penguin suits, it means but one thing: Another awards show. CBS, which aired it this week, called it the first "Television Critics' Circle Awards."

Even talk show host David Susskind of New York was there. It's logical. His firm produced the program and selected the 16 big-city TV critics who nominated 103 contenders in 18 categories.

After the nominating, 225 TV critics nationwide were sent ballots. They even could write in their own choices. Of the 225, 120 critics responded with votes, according to show officials.

Your observer got no ballot. Mr. Susskind's office says it thought your observer still lived in New York and sent it there. But your observer moved here last June to avoid dunning notices and ballots.

Had we received the ballot, we would have written on it, "Please leave three quarts" and resumed the poker game.

Alas, the game was interrupted anyway by orders to cover the TV critics' thing, even though we suggested it meant less to history than the first man to go over Niagara Falls in a beer firkin.

We decamped to the show's press room at Stage 6 at KTTV. There we watched on TV the show going on in Stage 4, a few hundred feet away. Weird, but this is the way awardom works.

Stage 6 was divided by a curtain. On one side were those who had to file award news immediately. On the other side were tables at which sundry souls sipped wine, talked and watched the TV show.

Tuxedoed fuglemen moved about, aiding scribes when desired and shepherding happy awardees to a pale blue backdrop so they could have their picture took.

It was a good night for producer Susskind. ABC's "Eleanor and Franklin," which his company made, took home five critics' awards, a number matched only by "Roots," which his company didn't make.

And his awards show wasn't bad, as these things go.

It was sprightly and the speeches of awardees were mercifully brief. It would have been much better, though, had not 27 trophies been dispensed. This tended to slow down the entertainment.

The show was CBS' fourth awards bash this year. By June, the three networks will have aired 11 such events. However, one respite from this awardamania may occur — the threatened nighttime Emmy show.

Many Hollywoodians, among them Norman Lear and Mary Tyler Moore, are saying they'll boycott the industry's top backpat ceremonies.

This is because of a long fight between New York and Hollywood types over control of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences. NBC, which scheduled Emmy night for May 15, has postponed it.

It's given the academy until today to come up with an Emmy show for airing, or it'll cancel the whole thing. Hope not. Susskind might propose an awards show honoring the year's best awards show.

Riverfront Clubhouse Vandalized;

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds reported persons apparently broke into the team clubhouse at Riverfront Stadium Wednesday night while the World Champions continued their first roadtrip of the season.

Officials said apparently nothing was missing from the players' lockers. Entry to the clubhouse was gained by smashing a glass door.

The breakin occured as the Reds were winding up a series in Houston, where they lost to the Astros 7-6 Wednesday night. Cincinnati, off to one of its worst starts in years, has lost five straight games going into today's series at San Diego.

India is called "Bharat" in the Hindi language.

In Memoriam

"In Memoriam"
In loving memory of our dear brother, Laurence Lowell Hinton, who has gone to a better land, April 17, 1941.
Deep in our hearts you are fondly remembered.
Sweet happy memories cling around your name.
True hearts that loved you with deepest affection,
Always will love you in death just the same.
Sadly missed by,
Sisters and Brothers,
Marie, Margaret, Ferne, Cecil and Charles

In loving memory of our daughter, mother and sister, Martha Stonerock Lagore who passed away April 15, 1967.
April comes with sad regrets
The day, the month, we shall never forget.
For in our hearts you will always stay.
Loved and remembered every day.
In the stillness of the night
Our tears will often flow
To think how suddenly you left us
On this day 10 years ago.
Loved and sadly missed by
Leona Stonerock,
Linda Grant
Gary Lagore and Betty Sabine.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

FOR SATURDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You may be too volatile, displaying nervousness and anxiety. This is not like the REAL you. Give yourself a pep talk and get in there and pitch — with your usual self-confidence.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Emphasize: dependability, referral to others' ideas, building a store of usable data, facts. Avoid: making decisions without reflection, overoptimism.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Resoluteness and determination will put this day in the winning column. Weed out certain undesirable attachments, practices, methods.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Everyday matters may give most concern. Employ "tried and true" methods in areas where you must act but have little to go on for reference. Your staying power will aid you.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Where your instinct strongly dictates, first make sure, but then DO act, and deliberately, in your innately well-disposed manner. Romance under splendid influences.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): You can have what you want if you work carefully and with consideration for others. Neither attack nor retreat, but go forth calmly and you WILL achieve.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): A day for listening well and voicing well-considered opinions. Take stock of why certain maneuvers and tactics did not succeed in the past and avoid them now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Fine Mars influences! With initiatvie and enterprise, more than usual can be achieved. Day will definitely respond to imagination, aggressiveness.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Do not become frustrated over possible delays or disappointments. With your innate intelligence and ingenuity, you can change undesirable situations.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): A day in which to get away from routine. New scenes, new people, new activities could spark a brand new interest in your life, make it more stimulating.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You will find the "little" things rewarding now. Don't look for the spectacular. Be satisfied with even small benefits.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A different outlook will help you to improve relations with family, friends. Insight may come through your highly intuitive faculties; more flexibility through the erasure of past concepts.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely outgoing person, energetic and full of enthusiasm for life in all its infinite variety. You are endowed with a brilliant imagination and would make an excellent inventor. You are idealistic, ambitious and have the intuition to strike upon new methods for advancing your status, no matter how lowly your beginnings. You have a great love of beauty and would make a great success in the fields of music and the theater. Try to curb tendencies toward arrogance and excessive pride. Birthdate of: Wilbur Wright, airplane inventor; Sir Charles Chaplin and Peter Ustinov, film writers, producers and actors.

Buckeye Golfers To Defend Kepler Title

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Host Ohio State University, the defending champion, heads a 23-team field in the ninth Kepler Intercollegiate Golf tournament Friday through Sunday.

The Buckeyes have won the last three team titles in the 54-hole tournament over the Ohio State Scarlet course.

Included among the challengers are Indiana, the only other school ever to win the tournament, and 1976 runnerup Marshall, a distant second with 1, 174, 37 shots behind Ohio State last spring.

Michigan State, Purdue, Kent State, Bowling Green and Miami also rank as strong team threats.

CRASH AT INTERSECTION — Four people were injured when a tractor and semi-trailer rig crashed into two cars at the intersection of Route 22 and Route 138 Thursday afternoon.

Blame Trucker For Crash

A tractor and semi-trailer rig crashed into one car and knocked another into a ditch before jackknifing in a wheat field.

The trucker, John Choate, 43, Route 1, Sunman, Ind., was hospitalized after the 4:40 p.m. crash, and three other people involved were treated at Berger Hospital and later released, according to Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Danny Dewey.

Choate underwent surgery at the Ross County Medical Center, Chillicothe, for treatment of a fractured jaw and facial lacerations.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Route 22 and Route 138.

Deputy Dewey said Choate was driving west behind a car driven by Shauna L. Wills, 19, 407 S. Main St., Williamsport, when he apparently disregarded a yellow line to attempt to pass the car.

James E. Abner, 17, Route 4, was driving north on Route 138, had stopped at the stop sign, and was beginning to make a right turn onto Route 22 when the semi rig, traveling in his lane, struck the front of his car and knocked it back onto Route 138.

After initial impact, the truck swerved to the right and knocked Ms. Wills' car off the right side of the road into a deep ditch, where it rolled to its top.

The truck continued westbound on Route 22 out of control and went off the left side into a wheat field owned by Robert H. Diltz, 3350 Route 22 West.

Abner, whose car was demolished in the collision, was treated at Berger Hospital for small lacerations to his face and scalp.

Ms. Wills suffered multiple contusions and abrasions, and a passenger in her car, Juanita Cook, 407 S. Main St., Williamsport, suffered facial lacerations, a laceration to her lower lip, and multiple contusions and abrasions.

All the injured were treated at the scene of the accident by members of the Circleville Emergency Medical team.

Choate was driving a truck with 40-foot trailer owned by Bauer Trucking, Inc., Brookville, Ind.

He was charged with driving left of center with in 100 feet of an intersection.

PICCA Notes

OFFENDER PROGRAM

Pickaway County Community Action is now instituting a juvenile work experience program. This program, will provide employment for young persons between the ages of 14 and 18, residing in Pickaway County, and who are currently on probation.

Participants working hours will vary according to the schedule and capabilities of the individual. A main emphasis of the program, will be to start participants in vocational training programs, unsubsidized employment, or to convince them to continue or restart their education. Counseling on a one to one basis will be provided for all persons enrolled in the program.

Any young person between the ages of 14 and 18, currently on probation and residing in Pickaway County who are interested in this program should contact their probation officer.

PERSONAL ADVOCACY

"You give but little when you give of your possessions. It is when you give of yourself that you truly give." Kahil Gibran.

A healthy well-informed citizen becomes an advocate — friend to someone not as fortunate. The advocate insures that his friend, who has a developmental disability, receives the legal and moral rights to which he is entitled. The personal advocate works with not for his friend. Together, there is growth and change.

Personal advocacy has been established in Pickaway County through the combined efforts of Developmental Disabilities Resources, Inc. and the Paint Valley Mental Health and Mental Retardation Board.

For further information contact Diane Berger, at PICCA Office 474-6881.

ALCOHOL PROGRAM

The Alcohol Court Program opened April 7. The program is the DWI Offenders and are referrals from the court. There will be 5 weeks of education and 2 counseling sessions.

HEAD START

The Head Start children were back in classes as of April 4 after being out since January 28. Head Start will be in session until July 1, to make-up the time lost because of no heat in the classrooms. The children were entertained with an Easter egg hunt, Wednesday April 6. There was one for the morning session and one for the afternoon session, sponsored by the Circleville Jr. Women.

The Pickaway County Shrine sponsored the Head Start children to the Shrine Circus on March 24 in Columbus. Everyone had a wonderful time including the adults. Our thanks go out to everyone involved.

Six Head Start's Mothers attended Child Abuse Workshop in Wellston, Ohio on April 7th. Social Services personnel from children's hospital conducted the workshop.

Parents attending were Linda Hill, Stella Harris, Mary Emerson, Rochelle Mills, Virginia Boysel, and Karen Rhodes. Sue Lewis, Head Start staff accompanied the group.

COMMUNITY GARDENS

Community garden plots are available in Ashville, Circleville, and Darbyville. Anyone interested please call right away. 474-6881 or 474-7452.

PCSO Nabs Youth; Bolts From Custody

A juvenile prisoner, who bolted from the custody of a Lawrence County Deputy Sheriff, was apprehended by Deputy Lowell Ferguson Friday morning.

Deputy Ferguson arrested the youth within eight minutes after Pickaway County authorities were told of the escape.

The youth was being transported to TICO, the maximum security center for juveniles in Columbus, on a second commitment by the Lawrence County Juvenile Court.

He apparently asked to use the restroom facilities at the Certified Station on Route 23 and ran into the wooded area behind the station, even though warning shots were fired by Lawrence County Deputy Harry Ray.

Deputy Ferguson apprehended the youth on railroad tracks near Haggerty Road without resistance.

A second prisoner, Vicki Reffitt, did not attempt to escape. She was being transported to Riverview in Columbus on a second commitment.

Besides Deputy Ray, the youths were in the custody of William Bayert, chief probation officer of Lawrence County.

Other local officers on the scene were Sheriff Dwight Radcliff, Deputy Bill Carmean, Deputy Tim Hasselbring, and Deputy Nick Franklin.

Construction Planned At Orient Institute

Governor James A. Rhodes announced today the state is accepting bids to construct a new residential center for the mentally retarded and install sprinkler systems in several existing buildings at Orient State Institute in Pickaway County.

"The center for the mentally retarded will create smaller residential-type living units in a human environment for the facility's clients," the Governor said.

Administrative Services Director Richard D. Jackson said the center will have four 32-bed cottages surrounding a core building housing administrative, food service, instructional and therapy areas. Bids will be opened May 13 on the $4.2 million project.

Sprinkler systems will be installed in several buildings at Orient to improve fire protection for the patients, Jackson said. May 16 is the bid date on the $3.3 million task.

Bids will be opened by the Division of Public Works, part of the Ohio Department of Administrative Services.

Towns Qualify For Flood Insurance

Natural Resources Director Robert W. Teater today reported that with 33 Ohio communities becoming eligible for sale of flood insurance during February and March, 586 of 663 Ohio flood hazard communities are now members of the federally subsidized flood insurance program.

"We are very pleased that so many Ohio communities have qualified for a federal program which allows their citizens to purchase insurance against flood and other water-related damage." stated Teater, who noted the devastation left in the wake of the recent flooding in Kentucky and West Virginia.

The Ohio Department of Natural Resources (ODNR) coordinates the National Flood Insurance Program within Ohio. Under the program communities and their residents become eligible for the sale of low-cost flood insurance. The federally sponsored program is operated by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development's Federal Insurance Administration.

ODNR normally receives about five applications a month. The number increased to an average of seventeen applications during February and March.

"Ohio leads most other states in the number of communities eligible for the sale of flood insurance," Teater said.

"Our program has been successful because of the positive leadership of local officials and because the extreme winter weather conditions made Ohioans more aware of the threat of flooding."

Information about the flood insurance program in Ohio can be obtained from the Flood Plain Management Section, Division of Water, Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Fountain Square, Columbus, 43224.

Fired Witch Receives Pay

COSHOCTON, Ohio (AP) — Coshocton restaurant-lounge operator Earl Remy says he is paying eight days' wages to a self-proclaimed witch to settle a dispute over her firing.

Remy said Thursday Ohio Civil Rights Commission investigators approved the plan to pay $190 to Billie Jo Selph — known as Lady Astarte.

Mrs. Selph, 36, had complained to the commission that she was fired as a barmaid in January because she is a witch.

Remy denied that had anything to do with it. He said Mrs. Selph was hired as a holiday replacement for a bartender who later came back to work.

He quoted the Civil rights investigators as saying he should pay her wages "between the time she was let go and the time your regular bartender came back."

A commission investigator in Columbus said the agreement will be reviewed and a decision handed down in the next couple of weeks.
